PREFACE.

The writer of the following pages has devoted a portion of his time for the last four years in collecting and preparing for publication the records of the Gale Families in the United States and England.

In accomplishing this work, he sent circulars and letters to all the persons that he could hear of by this name, both in England and the United States, soliciting communications and family records. He also made one visit to Boston where he spent nearly three weeks in copying the military records of Massachusetts.

The writer, however, has to regret that the enterprise has not met with that favor which he thinks its importance demanded, as nearly one half of those who have received his circular, have failed to respond to its reasonable requests. In some instances, town and county officers have neglected to answer letters, even containing money, and stamps for return postage, while others have promptly, not only answered letters, but several have declined receiving any compensation for the information furnished. While many of the Gales have neglected to answer letters and circulars, others have taken hold of the enterprise with zeal and furnished all the information within their reach.

Of the Gale Families in England, we have obtained the most of our information from "Burke's Dictionary of the Lineage of the Landed Gentry of England."

PREFACE.

The writer has. First, given the descendants of Richard Gale of Watertown, Massachusetts, who settled there about 1640;

Second, the genealogy of his mother's family; Tottingham;

Third, that of his wife, Young; and Fourth, another family of Gales whom the writer believes were nephews to Richard Gale.

Of these families the writer has given all the information he has been able to collect, without personally visiting the different towns of their residences, which he had not the time to do. In many instances this information is very meagre, but he can only answer that it is all obtained.

The Author, however, hopes that this publication will so far attract the attention of the Gales, as to arouse some enterprising one, at some future time, to revise the work and make it more complete.

INTRODUCTION TO THE GALE FAMILIES.

Gaoll in the Gaelic language means a stranger. Gaoll strangers and Gaolldoch, the country of the Scots who speak English. According to Buchanan the ancient Scots divided all the nations of Britain into Gaol and Galle, which he translates by the Latin Galli and Gallaci.

When Julius Cæsar entered France, he found the nations including England, calling themselves "Celtæ" or Celts, but remarked that in the Roman language they were called "Galli," but no where informs us of the origin of the name given them by the Romans.

As barbarians are generally known by some nickname given them by the persons first visiting them, it has been supposed that the early Romans named them with the word the Celts first used on meeting the Roman strangers, viz : Gaoll, or strangers, from which was first derived Gallie and Gael.

In Lower's "Dictionary of Family Names of the United Kingdom ; London 1860"; the following remarks are made of the origin of the family name :

"Gale, A Scottish Highlander. Gale, Hundred Rolls, 1273 Two Saints, Galle, occur in the Roman Calendar, one of whom was a Scotch Abbot."

"Gael. The Gaels of Charlton Kings, Co., Gloucester, have written themselves at various periods, Galle, Gale, Gael and originally De Galles. If this be correct, the family may have been of Welch origin in Anglo-Norman times when that country was known as Galles or Gales."

The English writers, however, quite generally derive the family name from some Scotch Highlander who settled in England and was called by the neighbors, Gael, or in English orthography Gale.

This might have been correct if the name is of late origin, but if ancient, the country people were too lately descended from the Gaels, and mixed with them too often to have such a neighbor attract any attention so as to give him the family name of his country. May we not with much greater probability, infer that the stranger was a Roman or Phinician and received the same name from the Celts, which for many years the Celts had applied to them. It is a fact in history, not now seriously doubted that the Ancient Greeks, Phinicians and Romans were accustomed to trade with the Britains, long before the invasion by Julius Cæsar.

But these speculations to establish a Roman ancestry are quite unnecessary as Geoffrey ap Arthur, the Bishop of St. Asaph, in the twelfth century, proved quite conclusively, in the opinion of Edward I, that Britain was first settled by a Trojan colony under Brutus, a grand-son of Æneas, from whose name the Greeks and Romans derived Britania. This theory was first promulgated by the Welch priest Tysilio, who flourished in the Seventh Century. The Romans with not much greater probability claim that Rome was first settled by a similar Trojan colony under Æneas himself. As the writer thinks it does not make much difference whether he descended from the Father or Grand-son he will leave these speculations to those who may desire to pursue them further.

When Homer wrote of the brave Hector and the lovely Andromache he could not have anticipated that in a few centuries nearly all Europe would ignore the brave Achilles and claim to have descended from the defeated chivalry of Troy. But whatever might have been his origin, the head of the Gale family was evidently a stranger domiciled in England and as the name was not numerous in 1273 there may have been originally but one family who kept up the ancestral name, but since the introduction of surnames, commenced in 1066 and "settled among the common people fully, in 1307" the name has increased rapidly until the present time, and has become numerous in both England and America.

In the "Domesday Book" which was compiled in 1085 by William the Conqueror and contained a list of most of the landed estates in England at that time with the names of the occupants for purposes of taxation, the name of Gale does not occur, from which we infer that the Gales, were not among the adventurers of that monarch from Normandy; for if they had been they would, like others have had some of the confiscated landed estates assigned to them; but the local names of the estates, which are nearly all English names, clearly indicate that before the Conquest the Gales belonged to the landed gentry of England, and probably lost their estates by confiscation for their loyalty to Harold, the defeated and slain sovereign of England, at the memorable battle of Hastings.

Upon this battlefield was erected the l'Abbaye de la Bataille which was dedicated to St. Martin the patron saint of the expedition and "endowed with the property of the English who had died in the battle." Indeed, so completely were the English despoiled "that," in the language of Holinshed, "there was neither governor, bishop, nor abbot remaining therein of the English nation."

Thus we find in the Domesday Books the following landed estates : "Gal," in Scireopshire in the possession of Count Rogers ; "Galeshore," in Devonshire Tavitone, in the possession of Count Moviton ; "Galtone," in Dorsetshire, in the possession of the "King's Servants" and some others which evidently derived their names from the Gales.

Having thus lost their estates, the Gales do not appear again among the landed gentry of England until the "Hundred Rolls of 1273."

The orthography of the name has been variously written. Gall, Galle, Gail, Gael and Gale, and in French De Galles, all pronounced nearly alike, but during the last 100 years nearly all the families in England and America have settled down on the simple English orthography, "Gale" which is probably correct according to the modern rules.

To enable our American Cousins to learn something of their English ancestors and cousins the writer makes the following extracts from Burke's Dictionary of the Lineage of the Landed Gentry of England and will commence with the old family of Yorkshire :

The family of Gale, now inerged in that of Coore, was of importance in the North and East Ridings of Yorkshire, early in the sixteenth century.

James Gale, the first named in the pedigree was seated at Thirtoft, near Scruton, in the hundred of East Gilling and North Riding anno 1523. His son and heir, Oliver Gale of Thirtoft, m. Ellen Marshall, of Richmond and had, with another son, James, who m. and resided sometime in Spain, [James subsequently settled in Ireland, whence his descendents during the rebellion there, transplanted themselves to Whitehaven, Cumberland County. From this branch descended the present Lieut. Col. Gale Braddyll, of Cornish Priory] George Gale Esq., Lord Mayor of York, in 1534 and 1546, who d. July 2. 1557, leaving, by Mary, his wife, dau. of Robert Lord, of Kendal, two sons, Robert or Francis Gale, Esq. of Akeham Grange, Co. York, m. Anne, dau. of William Clapham, Esq. of Bamsley, and widow of Mr. Thwaite, of Marston, by whom (who m. 2^{ndly}, John Inglesby, Esq., brother of Sir William Inglesby, of Repley) he left at his decease, two sons, Robert, of Akeham Grange; and John of Scruton; and a dau. Mary, wife of Thomas Meynell, Esq., of North Kilvington. The second son, John Gale, Esq., of Scruton, m. Jane, eldest dau. of John Frank, Esq. of Pontefract, and by her, who d. in 1624, had (with two daus. Margaret and Dorothy, three sons) 1. Christopher, his heir; 2. Ralph, citizen of London, who left two daus.; 3. John, b. in 1601, who was in the Low Country wars, under Count Mansfield, in the time of James I. and resided many years at Farnley Hall. He m. Joanna, dau. of Miles Dodson, Esq., of Kirkby Overblows, and had three sons, Miles, Henry and Francis.

John Gale d. in 1624 and was succeeded by his eldest son Christopher Gale Esq. of Scruton, b. in 1597, who m. Frances, dau. of Conyers, of Holby, and by her who d. in 1656, left at his decease an only surviving child. The Rev. Thomas Gale D. D., divine, critic and antiquary of distinguished erudition, b. at Scruton, in 1636.

He married Barbara, dau. of Thomas Pepys, Esq. of Impington Co. Cambridge and by her, who d. in 1689, had with a dau. Elizabeth m. to Rev. William Stukely, the celebrated antiquary) four sons viz: 1. Roger his heir; 2. Charles, Rector of Scruton; 3. Samuel b. in 1682, one of the land surveyors of the Customs, a reviser of the society of Antiquaries in 1717, and its first treasurer; and

4. Thomas, who d. s. p. Dr. Gale, whom Drake, no liberal panegyrist, styles "the good Dean" d. 28 April 1702, and was succeeded by his eldest son Roger Gale, Esq. of Scruton, M. P., for Northallerton, b. in 1672, the known author of the "Registrum Honoris de Richmond," the first Vice-President of the society of Antiquaries, and treasurer of the Royal Society. He m. Henrietta, dau. of Henry Raper, Esq. of Cowling Hall, Co. York, and by her who d. 29. Sept. 1720, he left at his decease, 25. June 1744, an only son and heir, Roger Henry Gale Esq. of Scruton, b. in 1710, who m. in 1740, Catharine, dau. of Christopher Crowe, Esq. of Kiplin, in Yorkshire, and dying in 1768, left with two daus. (Harriet m. to Capt. John Atkinson Blanshard ; and Catherine) four sons of whom the eldest, Henry Gale Esq., of Scruton, b. in 1744, m., 1779, Mary, only dau. of Francis Dalton, Esq. of Hawkeswell, and had issue to survive youth, three daus. Harriett his heiress, Catharine and Anne. Mr. Gale d. in 1821, and was succeeded by his eldest dau. Harriet Gale, of Scruton Hall, who m. in 1816 Lieut. Col. Foster Lechmere Coore. [This gentleman who is eldest son of John Coore, Esq., and Ann Lechmere, his wife, succeeded, in 1821, his uncle, Col. Thomas Coore, whose father, Foster, son of Alderman Thomas Coore of Liverpool, m. in 1736. Eleanor, only dau. of John Heaton, Esq., of Firby.] of Firby, in the North Riding of the same Shire, and dying 15 Dec., 1839, left with four daus. Mary, Sophia, Augusta and Charlotte, one son, the present Henry Coore, Esq., of Scruton "

From Burke's Dictionary, p. 456, is taken the following:

"GAEL OF CHARLTON KINGS.

Samuel Higgs Gael, Esq., of Charlton Kings Co. Gloucester, b. Aug. 1808 ; m. in Nov. 1837, Annie, youngest dau. of George Hassard, Esq. of Sken, Co. Farmanagh, and has issue, one son, Charles Edward, and two daus. Elizabeth Ann and Jane.

Mr. Gale is magistrate for Co. Gloucester."

"The name of this family has been variously written. (Galle, Gale, Gael and originally De Gales) and the crest 'a cock gu.' is probably an illusive device.

John Gael Esq., son of Edmond Gael of Alstonfield, near Cheltenham, Co. Gloucester, first settled at Charlton Kings. He was father of Edward Gale Esq., of Charlton Kings, who m. Sarah Tuckevill and had four sons, all of whom d. issueless except John Gale, Esq. of Charlton Kings, who had by Anna, his wife, three sons, John his heir; Edward, Capt. in the Maryland Artillery, d. unm. in New Jersey, about the year 1785; and Henry, who d. s. p.

The eldest son, John Gale, Esq., of Charlton Kings m. in 1805, Susanna, youngest dau. and now only surviving child of Charles Higgs, Esq., of Charlton Kings, and Deerhurst Walton, Co. Gloucester, by Susanna Cooke, his wife, heiress of the families of Cooke, Sloper, Cooper, Wager and Deighton, of Charlton Kings, and had two sons, John, who d. unm. at Milan, in 1829; and Samuel Higgs, now of Charlton Kings."

As a part of the further history of this family the writer will give the following:

Letter from Samuel Higgs Gael Esq.

LINCOLN'S INN, LONDON,)
20. June 1864.)

DEAR SIR:—I have received your letter addressed to me at Charlton Kings making inquiries about the Gale family.

It would have afforded me pleasure had it been in my power, to have given you useful information on the subject. As it is, I will put you in possession of what I have learned in looking over my old Registers and Papers bearing on the questions which you put.

I should observe that the original name of my branch of the family is Gaell, but it has been very variously spelt and I now spell it Gael. In whatever form used, it means I take it, a native of Wales domiciled in England.

In later times the man would be called and written Welch, who at the earliest period of writing surnames, would have written himself Gaell, or Gale or Gales. It by no means follows, therefore, that all who bear the name came from one stock or stem, an inference from names which, indeed, can never be pretended of any name whatever. But there are well known branches of families in Yorkshire, Devonshire, Gloucestershire, London and other places, of Gales. I only speak of mine, which has been in Gloucestershire for some centuries and has been so much mixed up with what I believe is another family named Gale, whose principal place was in Worcestershire but occasionally lived at Charlton, in Gloucestershire, as to create confusion in searching public Registers and Records, I have given the families. This principally occurs in the junior members of families. Their successive heads can be pretty well traced by the descent of property. When then the junior members of a family severed off and settled in London, the plantations abroad or elsewhere, from home, they were lost to the parent stock after the lapse of a few generations. Thus for instance, I see by Letters and Papers which have escaped the ravages of time, and I learn by tradition, that in some of the more recent generations, the younger members did so migrate, that one was a brewer in London, another a Captain of Artillery in Maryland in the American Revolutionary wars, (an adventure in which a great many young Englishmen of a free turn of politics sought their fortune in, and some perhaps found it, but which only produced disappointment and an early grave from the flux, to my unfortunate relative) and so on. These members when lost sight of would appear to have dropped off and to have left no descendants, which simply means none that the family remaining at the old spot know of.

Of the christian names you mention, I find John, Richard and Edmond, about the time named. Edmond I can account for, but not John and Richard. Hugh I have met with, later, but Ambrose or Bartholomew, never. If you had such names as Gratian, Alice, Isabella and Edith I could have better identified them.

But I will copy the names in the Generation, in the beginning of the seventeenth century :

In 1594 Andrew Gaell or Gale married Lucie Clarke, whence John, bap. 1606—no further trace of him—Edmond, bap. 1608 . d. at Cheltenham 1692. Will in the prerogative court of Canterbury.

In 1598, John Gaell, probably a brother of Andrew married Edith Machin, whence John Gaell or Gale, bap. 1612, of whom no further trace is found.

The latest Richard Galle about that time was or 1596.

The Rev. Theophilus Gale was the author of a book called the "Court of the Gentiles," I rather think there is something about him or his family in some old number of the Gentleman's Magazine. His will would probably mention the names of his relatives.

From Coats of Arms I do not think much information can be gleaned. A branch of the Gales obtained a Grant in the Common Wealth's time, of a Coat which resembles the Yorkshire Gales, to which family belonged

Dr. Thomas Gale of St. Paul's School temp. c. 2. who wrote the anti-papal inscription on London Monument, which Pope says "like a tall bully lifts its head and lies." Roger Gale and Samuel Gale the Antiquarians, were of this family.

St. Katharine's near the Tower of London was a hospital. It was removed to the Regent's Park, London in the reign of George the 4th and the site devoted to the St. Katharine's Docks. The R'd Gale mentioned as there baptized could be none of mine, I think.

I have not seen any of the recent editions of 'Burke's Gentry.' Having no time now for such pursuits, the labors of the legal profession (which you, it would appear, have relinquished) engrossing it all. I have sent this through Messrs Trubner & Co. who also wrote to me, with a copy of your letter to them, that they may add by supplement, any further information they can furnish, and with every good wish for the prosperity of the American Gales, I remain.

Dear sir, your obed't Serv't,

George Gale Esq.

SAM'L H. GAEL."

The Rev. Theophilus Gale mentioned in the letter of Mr. Samuel H. Gael, was born at "Kings Trighton, in Devonshire in 1628 and d. in London 1678. He was a distinguished nonconformist minister, wrote many religious works and at his death bequeathed his very large Library to Harvard College, near Boston Mass. The College record says that this Library was larger than all the Libraries that were then in the College.

Our English cousins across the water have often joked us of America, with having no ancestors, but the two following letters will show that we might often return the compliment :

SHOTTER HILL }
June 12, '64. }

DEAR SIR :

Your favor with copy of letter from Dr. Gale, of America inclosed, has been forwarded me here, where I am ruralizing for a short time.

I should have been most happy if in my power, to have furnished any information on the subject of the letter, but unfortunately, I am not Genealogically learned.

Still, if the one important item which Dr. Gale lacks, is the names of Richard Gale's brothers and father, could probably be ascertained: and if, when I return to town I should be able to meet with this information, I will at once forward it to him.

There is a barrister of the name of Gale at Portsmouth or Southampton, who presides at some court, and in the local papers, (Hampshire Advertiser) is called "Judge Gale" who might perhaps be able to give information to Dr. Gale. His name would be found in the Law Dict.

For my part as I said before, I know not my genealogy but, I have always considered, the name should be spelt "Gael".

I conclude our ancestors came over to England long before the conqueror, and even before Julius Caesar.

I am, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,

Josiah Child Esq.

WM. GALE.

FROM JUDGE GALE.

KITNOCKS, Southampton, }
June 19, 1864. }

GENTLEMEN :

I am sorry it is not in my power to forward the views of your correspondent, by giving him information of any early members of a family bearing the same name as myself. I cannot trace back my ancestors for any length of time. The same I believe is very common in his country, and in the south of England generally.

I remain,

Your obedient serv't

C. I. GALE.

Wm. Gale, Esq., of London having returned home, wrote again as follows :

“LANGHAM CHAMBERS, }
PORTLAND PLACE, LONDON W. }
July 25, 1864 }

DEAR SIR. -- A friend of mine connected with the house of Messrs. Tribner & Co. forwarded me, a few weeks since, a copy of your letter to them making inquiries respecting the Gale family, especially in reference to a Richard Gale who left London in 1635. It happens unfortunately, that I am no antiquarian, but on receiving the letter I determined for the moment to make the research you suggested, in the record of St. Katharine's Church.

The first thing I discovered was that the site, where once stood St. Katharine's church near the Tower is now occupied by St. Katharine's Docks, and that the church was rebuilt in Regent's Park. On application there, I obtained permission to search the old Register and, I am sorry to say, with little success. According to the date you give, Richard Gale in 1619. Strangely enough the Register for the years 1619 and 1620 are wanting! and for some years before until January 1635 the name of Gale does not occur either in the register of births, deaths or marriages; we then meet with this notice: January 23d 1635, Ann, dau. of Nicholas Gale: (baptized, and again in 1637 Nov. 20th, there is Margrett the dan. of Nicholas Gale, (baptized.)

I much fear the information will be of little service, but shall be happy to make any further research you might suggest, unless indeed you have met with some other correspondent here who has been or may be able to do you more service than I can.

You mention the priests of St. Katharine's. It seems there were always three "brothers," as they are called in the records. Two of them at the date mentioned (1635) were Walter Gray and Samuel Slater. The other is not mentioned. Is it one of these two named, who certified to the good standing of Richard Gale? It has occurred to me as very probable that although certified to by the priest of St. Katharine's, Richard Gale might never have belonged to the Parish, but perhaps have merely had introductions or recommendations to the Priest from some distant part of the country. He coming to London to embark for America. Is this probable?

I am, Dear Sir, Your faithful and ob't Serv't,

To Dr. George Gale, &c.

WM. GALE."

Heraldry was an important institution in England after the conquest in 1066, by William of Normandy. It mainly originated in the holy wars, although in the Æneid it is said of the tomb of the Trojan Hector:

' On it Æneas piously heaped
A mighty mound, Sepulchral The oar the trumpet, Arms of the man, the airy Summit crowned."

During the reign of Henry III. heraldry became a science.

Arms were conferred on the Knights by which they were distinguished from each other, when clad in a coat of mail, and by the king for some important military service. Arms were also obtained by petition to the Earl Marshall. Thus, they were conferred on Sir Robert Lawrence, in 1191 by Richard I. for his bravery in scaling the walls of Acre.

Coats of Arms were long regarded as an indispensable appendage of a gentleman, but on the decline of the Feudal System in 1688, and the rise of the Reformation, they were treated, in a measure, as idle trappings of aristocracy and lost the prestige originally attributed to them. In America, they have only been regarded as a family relic of former family vanity. In England, in latter years, since 1688, they were not subject to any "visitation" or examination, and were assumed by any one at pleasure.

The Gales of England have adopted the following "Coats of Arms" as appears in "Burke's Encyclopædia of Heraldry ; 1849 :

"Gale, (Scruton Co. York) Az. on a fesse betw. three Saltires arg. as many lions' heads erased of the field, langued gu. Crest, out of a ducal coronet or. a unicorn's head paly of six az. and or. armed of the last." "Motto—Qui semina vertu raccoglie fama."

"Gale or Gall, (Cornwall, Dartmouth and Crediton, Co. Devon ; and Weveston, Co. Suffolk,) Az. a fesse ar. fretty of the field. Crest.—A shankbone and palm branch in saltire ppr."

"Gale, Whitehaven, Co. Cumberland,) Ar. on a fesse betw. three Saltires az. an anchor betw. two lions' heads erased or. Crest.—A unicorn's head az. charged with an anchor or. betw. two palets ar."

"Gale, (Devonshire) Az. on a fesse ar. three saltires of the field, (Another gu.)"

"Gale, (Stalbridge, Dorsetshire) sa. a fesse ar. fretty engr. of the first betw. three grayhounds sejant of the second, collared gu. Crest.—A horse's head, bendy wavy of six ar. and sa."

"Gale. Sa. a fesse ar. fretty of the field betw. three grayhounds sejant of the second. Crest.—A horse's head barry wavy of six ar. and sa."

"Gale. Gu. a griffin sergant or. within a bordure gobonated ar. and vert. Crest.—A unicorn's head, paly of six az. and or. the horns twisted, of the second and first."

"Gale. Az. a fesse ar. betw. three Saltires or."

"Gale. (Ashfield Hall, Queens Co. now represented by Peter Gale Esq. of Ashfield.) As Gale of Yorkshire.

"Gale. (as borne by John Gale, Co. Cornwall, Esq.) Az. a fesse ar. fretty of the field. Crest.—A horse's head erased bendy wavy of six or. and sa."

There has been found but one coat of arms among the Gales of America to the writer's knowledge, and that came down to the present generation from Capt. Joseph Gale of Connecticut. At the bottom of the picture is the following: "He beareth SABLE within a Bordure Chekey Or. and Azure a Griffin Rampant of the second by the name of Gale." This is all that is known of its history.

In the early emigration to America shipping records were kept, at the different ports in England, in which were entered the name, age and destination of emigrants and the fact that some priest giving his name and residence, had certified that the persons "conformed to the order and discipline of the Church of England."

This information enables the posterity to look up the ancestors in England of these emigrants, but after about 1635 all these entries were not made but only the facts that such a vessel sailed at such a day with so many emigrants for such a place.

The only Gale mentioned on the shipping records was Richard Gale certified to by the minister of St. Katharine's near the tower of London. He was only 16 years of age and sailed April 24, 1635 for Barbadoes and St. Christophers and embarked in the "Ann and Elizabeth" Capt. Brookehaven. There is no evidence that he ever came to Mass. although it was not uncommon for emigrants to other colonies to change to Mass. and vice versa.

Therefore in examining for the ancestry of the Gales in America, as yet, we have no evidence except what may have been preserved in England by the relatives of the emigrants. This evidence must be looked up hereafter by some enterprising member of the family who may visit England, and will probably be found, if at all, in the records of Wills and the settlement of Estates, and in the family records. Parish records will give names but other records will be necessary to show the emigration.

The following names of Gales have been discovered on the records in America :

John, in Boston Mass., admitted to the church in 1634 then in the employ of John Button ; d. soon after.

Edmond, Cambridge, Mass.. d. July 29, 1642, in Boston.

Hugh, of Kittery or Yorke Mass., admitted a freeman in 1652.

Richard, of Watertowne, Mass., purchased land in 1640.

Edmond, of Salesbury, probably of Marblehead, Mass., admitted a freeman 1660.

Bartholomew, of Salem, Mass., m. Martha dau. of Robert Lemon, 1662.

Ambrose, of Salem, Mass., May 17, 1663.

Thomas, of New Haven Conn., had dau. born May 6. 1655.

Edward, March 16, 1687 received 10 pounds for piloting His Majesty's Frigate King Fisher from Cape Ann to Nantucket Road and the attendance of his "Ketch" to assist Frigate.

Abel, Jamaica, Long Island N. Y. had lot granted to him 18, Oct. 1665 in Jamaica L. I.

Christopher, son of Miles and grand son of John, of Scruton, (b. 1601) was Att'y General and Chief Justice of N. Carolina about 1700, and m. Sarah, relict of Gov. Harvey and had son, Miles, and dau. Elizabeth.

Rasin, was an early settler in Kent Co. Maryland, whose grand son Thomas, now (1864) lives in Baltimore and is 73 years of age.

Barnard, of Boston Mass., 21 years of age, said to be a native of Old England served in Capt. Joseph Billings Co., in 1758, in the Expedition against Canada. Returned and discharged Oct. 16, 1758.

Francis, of Liguanea, Island of Jamaica, m. and had only dau. Susannah Hyde Gale who m. Alan, Lord Gardner, the celebrated Admiral. There was a Col. Gale of Jamaica, said to be descended from Yorkshire Gales whose dau. m. Wm. Foster a native of that Island.

These are all the early Gales I have collected, the most of whom were emigrants from England, and should our English Cousins ever collect the genealogies of the Families in England, they will doubtless all be identified with their ancestors.

I have thus given what information I can collect, of the English Ancestors and Cousins, for the information of the Cousins in America, hoping that at no distant day, some one of our race will take hold of the subject in good earnest, examine thoroughly the records of England. and publish the genealogy of the entire race.

Nearly all the Gale families, in New York and New England, have traditions that their ancestors were brothers who came from England and landed at Boston Mass., in early times, from whence they scattered to different localities, and these traditions are corroborated by the strong family likenesses which exist among the present generations, but if these traditions are not strictly true, still the family likeness indicates a common family origin.

THE FAMILY RECORD OF RICHARD GALE AND HIS DESCENDENTS.

1. RICHARD GALE, the ancestor of the following Family in the United States, first appears, as the purchaser of a "homestall" of six acres in Watertowne, Mass. in 1640, it being a part of a lot of 9 acres, in the town plot granted to Elder Richard Browne. The balance of the lot of 3 acres, was purchased by Samuel Freeman, one of the first proprietors, who was said to be of Devonshire, England, and it became a part of his "homestall."

From whence came Richard Gale we find no positive record, but as the name and Colony where purely English, we infer, as beyond a reasonable doubt, that he was an emigrant from England, but the fact cannot at this day be proven by any evidence yet obtained, although the author has instituted investigations in England which he hopes will in time settle the question.

We also infer that Richard was a communicant of the Church of England. This inference rests on the fact that no person could emigrate from England to the Colonies until he had first procured a certificate from his parish priest, that, in his religion he was "conformable to the order and discipline of the Church of England," coupled with the following statement in his Will:

"I give my spirit unto the hands of God that gave it and my body to the earth from whence it was taken ; hoping through the mediation of Jesus Christ to have it raised again at the great day."

While this evidence established his original religious position in the the Church of England, it does not negative the fact that, like most of the other emigrants, he might have united with the Watertown Congregational Church ; but, in referring to those records, we neither find his name, or the baptism of his children. Besides this, he was never admitted a freeman, never voted, or held office ; the prerequisite of all of which was, membership in the Watertown Church.

Why he never united with the Watertown Church, can only be answered by the inference that he might have been a "High Churchman" and unwilling to become a "Nonconformist." He might, however, have early been prejudiced against the Congregational Churches for their politico-ecclesiastical organization, and in the language of Sir Richard Saltonstall to the ministers of Boston, about this time, on account of their "tyranny and oppression,—fining, whipping und imprisoning men for their consciences." This Jesuitical intolerance, first manifested itself in the Plymouth Colony, by their banishing Mr. John Oldham from that Colony for his love of Episcopacy, in 1624, but four years after the "Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock. Thus the pious Pilgrims retaliated on the Church of England. About 1644 Goy Dudley, of Massachusetts Bay, in a letter to Sir Richard Saltonstall, then in England, refused the admission of Anabaptists, Seekers, Antinomians and other Independents, as Colonists. The poor Quakers were the especial objects of their hatred and the General Court, in 1657, passed a law fining anyone £100, who should "bring or cause to be brought" into the country, "any of that cursed sect of the Quakers" or other blasphemous heretics," and also fining any one "forty shillings for every hour's entertainment" of them.

The 2d, of Dec. 1661, Richard Gale purchased of Richard Dummer, the north east half of the "Oldham Farm," containing 250 acres, on which a part of the village of Waltham now stands. This was one of the most level and fine tracts of land in old Watertown, and was occupied by Richard until his death and his posterity after him, until about 1854, when it was sold by minor heirs and passed into the hands of Governor Banks, the Maj. Gen. commanding the Dept. of the S. W. in 1864, and is retained as his homestead.

However modest Richard might have been in everything else, we observe, that he was not particularly so in the size of his farm, which he evidently loved, or he would not have been so careful in his Will to preserve it for his posterity.

Whether Richard could read and write cannot be determined at this late day, but the fact, that he signed his Will with a mark, might lead one to believe that he could not write. This, however, does not necessary follow, for even at the present day, the Author knows from professional experience, that many men, who were good writers at a previous day, from their weakness, prefer to sign their Wills with a mark. As he never conveyed any land, held town office, had church membership, nor carried on any trade, the question, probably, can never be solved.

But if we conclude, that he could not, either read or write, it was not at that day considered any particular discredit, for the majority of our New England ancestors were suffering under the same misfortune. Indeed, so little did the people of Watertown regard education as necessary to the farmers, that they never erected the first school house until twenty years after the first settlement of the town, although Harvard College was founded for the education of ministers and others, the sons of the aristocracy, in the adjoining town as early as 1638. twelve years before the school house. But this school house, and the only one for fifty years, was but 22 feet long and 14 feet wide, and as it was robbed by an Indian of seventeen Greek and Latin books in 1664, it was probably monopolized by those only preparing for College.

Richard was probably married in England before he emigrated, and that his wife's name was "Mary," we only learn from the following record of Boston. "Sarah, dr. of Richard and Mary Gale b. 8 : 7 : 1641, of Watertown." They were probably stopping with relatives at Boston, at this critical period of married life,—to receive the first born,—the consummation of human happiness.

We have no record of the physical size or shape of Richard, but if we are allowed to judge of him by the average of his posterity, we may safely make him five feet and eleven inches in stature, strong and muscular, black eyes, black hair, rather long favored, and dark complexion, modest in his demeanor, of few words among strangers, social, domestic and temperate in his habits, fond of a good joke, liberal in his benevolence, firm in his will, and as a christian never bigoted.

As a race, the Gales have been more distinguished for their athletic powers than for the culture of their minds, but the late generations are fast changing in this particular, and the learned professions have a fair proportion of the present generation.

They have ever been reasonably jealous of their rights, but strong friends to a well-ordered government ; and in our Revolutionary struggle, they were an unit in taking up arms and marching to the fields of strife, from which several of them never returned alive. They were nearly as unanimous in the support of the war of 1812.

In the war of the Great Rebellion, prosecuted to restore the Union as established by our Fathers of the Revolution, we can only point to the long list of those named in nearly every family, who have both perilled and sacrificed their lives for their flag and the Constitution.

It is a very common remark that the whole race never produced a criminal, but the Author can only say that he has never yet found one, unless Abraham and Henry, who took part as captains in the Shays rebellion are to be considered as such.

WILL OF RICHARD GALE.

"I Richard Gael of Watertowne in the county of Middlesex in New England, yeoman : being under the afflicting hand of the infinitely wise God : as to a bodily distemper, yet through the goodness of God am sound in my memory and understanding do declare this to be my last will and testament as followeth :

I give my spirit unto the hands of God that gave it and my body to the earth from whence it was taken : hoping through the meedation of Jesus Christ to have raised again at the great day.

My will is that, except what of my estate just debts shall call for : my well beloved wife shall enjoy my whole estate both houses and lands and cattle of all sorts and all my household good for her comfort and maintenance during her natural life : my loving wife being dead : I give unto my son Abraham the dwelling house he now lives in with seven acres of upland adjoining to it which I gave him at his marriage : so long as my son Abraham lives and to his wife if she should out live him so long as she lives a widdow : and if their death : or my said sons death and his wife's marriage my will is the said house and seven acres of land shall be as an inheritance to my said sons two eldest sons namely Abraham Gall and Richard Gall :

I give and bequeath unto my son Abraham one fourth part of my orchard as long as he lives : and his wife as long as she lives or continues a widow : and it is to return to the two eldest sons of Abraham my son as they are above at prest : also my will is the two eldest of my son Abraham aforesaid should enjoy two fourths of my said orchard : and to be improved for their benefit until they come of age : and my will is that my son John Gall should enjoy one forth part of my orchard so long as he lives and at his death the said forth part is to return to my son Abraham and his heirs : I give unto my daughter Sarah Garfield ten pound to be paid within seven years after my wives decease to be paid in country pay at an indefrant rate : and in case my said daughter shall die before the said seven years be expired then my will is the said ten pound should be paid to my said daughters children equally among them : I give unto my daughter Mary Flag ten pound to be paid her in all respects as is said to my daughter Garfield and her children : allso my will is that my two sons Abraham Gall and John Gall should enjoy my whole farne containing two hundred and fifty acres : save only the seven acres before given to my son Abraham : and it is my will that my son John Gall aforesaid should enjoy his half of my farne aforesaid no longer than the time of his natural life and at his decease my will is : my whole farm containing 250 Acres as aforesaid should return to my son Abraham and his heirs forever. Allso my will is that if God should give unto my son John Gall aforesaid a male heir that then my son Abraham shall when the said male heir attains to the age of one and twenty yeers a paid unto him twenty pound in country paie at an indeefierant rate and in case my son John aforesaid should depart this life without a male heir then my will is that the said twenty pound be paid to those children or child my said son John shall leave when he dies : to be paid divided equally among them either at their marriage or when they attain eighteen years of age

And I doe nominate and appoint my well beloved son Abraham Gall to be sole executor to this my will and as a confirmation to this my last will and testament I have hereunto set my hand this five and twenteth of february sixteen hundred and seventy eight.

These endorments on the Will and Inventory by the Judge, shows that they were proved April 1., 1679, O.S. or April 12, 1679 new style and that the Inventory was taken before the Will was proved up before the Court of Probate.

The Inventory illustrates in a high degree the simplicity of the original pioneers of New England.

According to Bond's Genealogies of Watertown, (page 229) Richard's wife was named Mary, and they had the following children :

2. 1. Sarah, b. Sept. 8, 1641 ; m. Joseph Garfield.
3. 2. Abraham, b. 1643 and m. Sarah Fiske.
4. 3. Mary, m. March 30, 1670, John Flaggs.
5. 4. John, m. Elizabeth Spring.
- 6 5. Ephraim, May, 1673, a vagrant, "distempered in his mind," according to the court files, and probably died before his father, unm. The only record of the birth of any of the children, is the following on the record of Boston : "Sarah, dr. of Richard and Mary Gale, born 8 : 7: 1641, of Watertown." The names of Sarah, Abraham, Mary and John are the only names of children mentioned in the Will.

The quaint style of matchmaking of our old ancestors is well illustrated in the marriage of John, as appears in the testimony in a suit in 1679. One witness testified that "John Gale, son of Richard, in 1677, was a goodwiler to ye daughter of Henry Spring." Henry Spring, sen., and Mehitable his wife testified that "goodman Richard Gale came to our house to ask our goodwill to make a match between our daughter Elizabeth and his son John. He promised to give his son John half his farm" &c.

(3) II. ABRAHAM GALE, of Watertown m. Sept. 3, 1673. SARAH, dr. of Nathan Fiske of Watertown ;—was adm. freeman Oct. 11, 1682, and a selectman of Watertown, 1706 and 1718, and died Sept. 15, 1718, in the occupancy of the homestead. His wife SARAH, d. May 14, 1728, aged about 72 years. He left the following Will :

WILL OF ABRAHAM GALE.

"In the name of God, amen, the third day of September 1718, I, Abraham Gael, of Watertown, in the county of middx, within his magesties Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England yco ; Being very sick and weak in body, But of perfect mind and memory, thanks be given unto God : Therefore calling unto mind the mortality of my body, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to Dye, Do make & ordain this my last will & testament, That is to say, Principally, and first of all, I give & Recommend my soul into the hands of God that gave it: and my body I recomend to the earth, to be Decently buried in Christian burial at the Discretion of my executor: Nothing doubting but at the Genl. Resurrection I shall receive the same againe by the mighty Power of God, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it hath Pleased God. to Bless me in this life, I give & bequeath the same in the following manner and form: Imp.—I give and bequeath to Sarah, my well beloved wife, all my Personal estate within doors for her comfort & support during the time she Remains my widow; and further my will is that my wife shall have a comfortable Room in my mansion house, and to be constantly Provided with sufficient fier wood laid at the door fit for fire, and also to have Ten pounds annually pd. her in corn & meat & other Provisions by my two youngest sons, namely John & Joshua Gael. But in case my wife shall see cause to marry againe, my will is she shall be pd. the sum of Twenty pounds by my two above sons out of my Personal estate and no more, and the annual Rent to cease.”

“Item: I give and bequeath unto my son Abraham Gael & to his heirs & assigns forever the land on which his mansion house now stands with all the land adjoining that I formerly staked out & designed for him, being about sixty or seventy acres by estimation but not measured to know the certainty. Provided my said son pay ten pounds in money, of the debts I now owe either into the Public Bank of the Province, or to Paul Dudley Esq. of Boston, an in case he shall Refuse to pay ten pounds as aforesaid, then my will is that he shall enjoy Ten acres short of the land before given, sd. ten acres to be taken off conveniently together to be disposed of as I shall declare. I also give unto my said Son and his heirs aforesaid, one piece of meadow lying upon Charles River containing by estimation four acres, called Beaver hoel meadow. Further I give unto my sd. son as aforesd., one piece of woodland, containing by estimation five acres lying on the westerly side of the piece I formerly staked out to him, upon condition he gives a Deed of Release to my other sons of one quarter of an acre of orchard and his Right to ye land about my mansion-house by virtue of his grand fathers will and in case my said son shall Refuse to so do, then my will is the aforesd. five acres of woodland to be disposed of as I shall hereafter declare, and this to be in full of what I intend him for his portion out of my estate.

Item:—I give and bequeath to my son Richard Gael & to his heirs and assigns for ever, the sum of thirty Pounds to be pd. by my two youngest sons, viz: John & Joshua equally within two years after my decease, upon condition that he gives to my two youngest sons afore named a Deed of quit-claim of some small Right he hath by virtue of his Grand-fathers will to a Quarter of an acre of orchard & his claim to the land about my mansion-house. But in case he shall Refuse so to do, then my will is that my sd. son Richard shall have only twenty shillings to be paid in time and manner as aforesd., and that with what I have already given him to be in full of his portion out of my estate.

Item:—I give and bequeath to my son Ebenezer Gael & to his heirs & assigns for ever, Two acres of Land joining to what I have formerly given to him a Deed of lying on the easterly side of the same, and this with what I have already given him to be in full of what I intend him for his portion out of my estate.

(18) III. RICHARD GALE, m. SARAH KNIGHT, Jan. 7, 1705-6.

This Richard and family appear to have left Watertown soon after the birth of the last child named, and we have no positive account of the place at which he settled, but from the facts here given we think it very probable that he removed to Canterbury, Connecticut. The records of deeds in Middlesex Co., Mass., have the copy of a deed dated 1722; signed by "Richard Gael, of Canterbury, Conn.," and conveying land in Watertown to John and Joshua Gael of Watertown.

We also find the following in Cautkin's Hist. of Norwich, Conn :

"A very sad accident happened in the year 1728. The Inhabitants were engaged in raising a cart bridge 20 feet high and 250 feet long over Showtucket river, near three miles from the town and had nearly completed the frame, when on the 28th of June, as they were putting together the upper work a principal piece of timber which lay on the foundation of this upper work being spliced, gave way at the joint, and falling tripped up the dependent frame, which, with its own weight, careened and overset—100 feet of the bridge fell with 40 men on it, and the people were precipitated upon the rocks in all directions,—20 were severely wounded, and two killed instantly. These two were Jonathan Gale of Canterbury, 19 years of age, the only son of a widowed mother, a very hopeful youth, the darling of the family; and Mr. Daniel Tracy," &c.

As the writers letter to the town clerk of Canterbury remains unanswered he can get no further information, positive, of the family. The marriages of these of the daughters, as given by "Bond's Genealogics of Watertown," are of doubtful identity, and we give them with a mark of doubt.

(44.) (IV.) CAPT. ISAAC GALE, of Sutton, m. about 1731, JUDITH SAWYER, of Framingham, to which place he removed, where his first child, Isaac, was b. in 1732, and the following year, he removed to that part of Sutton afterwards set into a new town called Millbury, where he spent a long and useful life and died about Oct 1793.— But few items of his history can be gathered at this late date, but the Muster Rolls of the old "French and Indian war," show that as Lieutenant, he made a campaign in Aug. 1757 for the relief of Fort William Henry, but when they reached Sheffield, the news reached them of the surrender of that Fort the 9th of Aug., when they were ordered back. They marched the distance of 113 miles and were absent 17 days. He received as wages of Lieut. £3 4s. 5d. His brother Josiah, son Nchemiah and nephew Daniel were in the same company from Sutton, and his son served through most of the same war after that date. Lieut. Isaac Gale held his post in the Military Company of Sutton, until March 1, 1763, when he was appointed by the Governor of Mass. Captain of the same Company, which office he held with honor until he resigned, in Sept. 1769, and was succeeded by Capt. Elisha Goddard. In those days of French wars and Indian raids the Captain of the Militia was regarded as the most important office in town. He gave his sword to his son, Isaac, with instructions, as tradition says, to have it preserved by his descendants of that name, and in 1864 it was in the hands of Isaac Gale, of Royalston, who presented it to Galesville University, Wis., for preservation as a family relic; his own son, Isaac, who would have been entitled to the sword, having died in 1854.

On the first day of October, 1776, Capt. Gale sold his farm and most of his property, that he had not previously given to his other children, to his son Nehemiah and received back a mortgage conditioned for the life support of himself and wife.

By an assessment, of Sutton, in 1778, for taxes, this homestead property was rated as follows:

Two houses and out-buildings,	Val. £110.
Eighteen acres plowing,	" 180.
Ten acres meadow,	" 74.
Twelve acres pasture,	" 84.
One hundred and ninety acres of woodland,	" 550.
Two horses,	" 50.
Two oxen over 4 years old,	" 30.
Eight cows,	" 80.
Eight steers,	" 30.
Twenty-eight sheep,	" 24. 10s.
Grain,	" 10. 10s.
Four carriages,
Ten tons English hay,

Ten do. meadow,
 130 bushels of corn,
 Twenty barrels of "cyder"
 other produce " 8s.

In addition to this there were assessed to his son Nehemiah, £100, money at interest.

By his Will, dated April 17, 1792, in which he is called "Gentleman," his few items of property left in his hands he gave to his children and grand children as follows :

The best suit of clothes to the children of son Isaac, deceased.

The balance of his clothes to sons Jonas, Nehemiah and Elisha.

All "quickstock saving two cows" to be divided between the children of deceased, son, Isaac and his own sons then living.

Gives "cyder barrels" farming utensils and pew in the church to Nehemiah.

Gives his household furniture and two cows to Judith Chace and Anna Lealand to be equally divided between them.

Directs that his books be equally divided among all his children or heirs, and appoints Josiah Stiles executor.

The Will was proved up and allowed, by the Probate Court of Worcester County, Nov. 5, 1793.

(72.) (IV.) JONAS GALE, m. MARY BENJAMIN, the daughter of his guardian, Mar. 10, 1747 and soon after removed to Worcester, where he practised the trade of a "jeweller", until about 1768, when he removed to Holden, where he died Sept 21, 1784, and his tombstone is still standing by his grave. Jonas served in the campaign for the relief of Ft. Wm. Henry, in Aug. 1757, but I do not find his name among the soldiers of the Revolution. His Will was dated Sept. 20, 1784, only the day before his death, if the dates are correct, in which he gives

1st. To wife Mary, the use of the real and personal estate, until the children became of age, if she remained a widow, otherwise only one third of the use.

2d. To son Joshua, five shillings in addition to what he had received.

3d. To daughter, Mary, £6. 13s. 4d., in addition as aforesaid.

4. To son, Jonas, the jeweller's shop and £47. 2s. 7d., in addition as aforesaid.

5th. To daughter, Sarah, 16s. 6d., in addition &c.

8th. To daughter, Lydia, £26. 11s. 7d.

9th. To daughter, Susannah, £26. 11s. 7d.

10th. To son, Oliver, £55. 17s. 1d.

All the legacies to be paid when son, Oliver, arrived at 21 years of age. The 5th of Oct. 1784, the Will was proved and wife Mary and son Jonas were appointed executors.

The Inventory and appraisment amounted to £640.-1s. 10d.—Children :

- 166. 1. Joshua, b. May 28, 1750 ; m. Mrs. Molly Hubbard.
- 167. 2. Mary, b. Nov. 6, 1752 ; m. June 1, 1780, Wm. Parker, of Winchenden.

FIFTH GENERATION.

(89.) V. DANIEL GALE, of Warwick, m. Sept. 8, 1743, SARAH, dau. of John Lamson, of Weston and removed to Sutton, where his first child was born. He volunteered for the relief of Ft. Wm. Henry, Aug. 1757, and made the campaign in the company in which his uncle, Isaac Gale, was Lieut. He removed to Warwick after 1762 and probably about 1770, where he died at a good old age.—Children :

175. 1. Daniel, b. Sept. 15, 1744 ; d. young.
176. 2. Jonathan, b. Dec. 3, 1748 ; m. Mary Bancroft.

181. 7. Noah, b. July 20, 1757 ; m. Rebecca Chace.
182. 8. John, b. Jan. 27, 1759 ; m. Patty Marble.
183. 9. Ephraim, b. Apr. 1, 1760.
184. 10. Richard, b. Sept. 19, 1762 ; m., had several children and, with a second wife, removed to Canada some fifty years ago.

(90.) V. HENRY GALE, of Weston, m. Feb. 22, 1745, ABIGAIL, dan. of Joseph Smith, of Lexington. He lived in Weston until 1768, when he sold his real estate and probably removed to another town.

He entered the King's service, as corporal, May 19, 1755, and was discharged at Mendon, Dec. 11, of the same year ; belonged to the trainband, at Weston, April 18, 1757, re-entered, in King's service, April 2, 1759, from Weston, and served until Jan. 30, 1760, when he re-enlisted and served under Col. Frye, in the campaign of 1760, in Nova Scotia, and was finally discharged, Jan. 30, 1761. His sons served with credit in the war of the Revolution, after which we lose track of the family.—

They probably removed to N. H., if they survived the war.—Children :

185. 1. Esther, b. Feb. 14, 1746.

186. 2. Ephraim, b. Oct. 25, 1748.

187. 3. Joshua, b. Jan. 30, 1751.

188. 4. Henry, b. March 20, 1753.

189 5. Nathan, b. Feb. 5, 1755. Feb. 7, 1781, Nathan enlisted from Lexington for three years. He is described on the muster rolls as a "farmer, age 25, statue 5 feet 11 inches, complexion dark, eyes black." Receiving his bounty, he signed the following receipt :

"These Lines May Certify that I the Subscriber Have enlisted for the Town of Lexington for the Term of three years unless Sooner Regularly Discharged and have Rec'd of the Town as a Bounty two Hundred Silver Dollars in paper Money at Seventy five for one.

Lexington Feb. 20th, 1781. Nathan Gale."

The foregoing receipt is not in the hand writing of the signature. It well illustrates the depreciation of the Continental Currency—seventy-five dollars being then worth but one dollar.

Finding no further trace of Nathan or his brothers, it is possible that they all perished in the Revolution.

(91.) (V.) THADDEUS GALE, of Westborough, m. March 9, 1744—5, LYDIA AMSDEN, of Westborough, where he settled, soon after, where his children were born and where he died, previous to 1794, the date of his widow's will.

Thaddens was a sergeant in Capt. Ephraim Dolittle's Co. and served in the campaign of 1755 and was in the battles of Sept. 8, at Lake George ; also in the Revolution, he entered an artillery Co., as gunner, in 1775, which was commanded by Capt. Edward Crafts and served in different companies the most of the time during the war.—Whether he died in the service or subsequent, the records, of Westboro do not show. His widow, LYDIA GALE made her Will at Westboro, June 26, 1794, and gave all her estate to daughter Lydia, wife of Samuel Bellows, except as follows :

To grand daughter, Bernice, a wooden box
To grand daughter Esther Gale,	£4,
To grand son, Thaddcus Gale,	20s.
To grand daughter, Sarah Gale,	20
To grand daughter, Abigail Gale,	20 and made son-in-law, Samuel Bellows, executor. She died Feb. 16, 1795 and the Will was proved in Court, March 3, 1795. The town records only show the births of the first two following names and the balance are added from other sources of information :

190. 1. Jacob, b. May 30, 1746.
191. 2. Abraham, b. Aug. 30, 1747 and died Sept. 18, 1748.
192. 3. Amsden, b.—; m. Jan. 1772, Elizabeth Henderson.
193. 4. Lydia, b.—; m. April 20, 1783, Samuel Bellows, of Weston ; had children :
 1. Bernice, b. March 2, 1784 : m. 1807, Wm. Williams.
 2. Huldah, b. March 8, 1785, d. unm., 1828.
 3. Luke, b. June 21, 1789 ; d. unm.
 4. Edward, b. Dec. 23, 1792 ; m. 1823, Hannah Sophia Hawes, of Westboro, and had 3 children.

The descendents of Mrs. Lydia Bellows, now in Westboro, are unable to state what become of the family, but have a faint recollection that two sons or grandsons died of the asthma. At any rate, the writer can get no further information relating to the family, than what is above given.

The grand children spoken of in the Will are probably the children of Amsden, as his name appears among the volunteers who marched from Westboro to Concord, Apr. 19, 1775, "on an alarm which was occasioned by a Brigade of Ministerial Vengeance." His Reg., was under Maj. Gen. Ward.

(93.) (V.) ABIJAH GALE, of Westborough, m. June 23, 1748, ABIGAIL AMSDEN, of Westborough, to which town he immediately removed from Weston.

Abijah entered the service of his King in June, 1756, in the "French and Indian" war and served through the most part of that war, and was in some of the hardest battles. In 1757 he was in that part of the company not surrendered to the French at Ft. William Henry, and was marked as having, with 132 others in Col. Frye's Reg., deserted on the 12th of August, three days after the surrender of the Ft. As they were never punished for the desertion, but Abijah re-entered the service again the following spring, it was probably considered only as a "red tape" desertion, and really justifiable under the circumstances.

The old iron soldier finally died, June 18, 1804, in peace, amidst his numerous family, so unostentatiously that the town records do not even mention the time of his death.

His first wife, Abigail, d Feb. 27, 1771, and he m. SUSANNAH ALLEN, of Weston, Nov. 14, of the same year who d. Jan. 14, 1831, aged 91 years. His Will recites:

"Abijah Gale of Westborough, yeoman, being advanced in age" &c. He dated his will April 16, 1804, and gave to his wife, Susanna, her dower of $\frac{1}{3}$ of the estate and one cow, \$40, one looking glass, one case drawers and "40 dining chairs she brought with her." meaning, probably, at their marriage.

2d. Gives to his "five sons Nahum, Amsden, Lewis, Cyrus and David all real and personal property except" as follows: To "Nahum 1 pew and horse stable at meeting house" &c., $\frac{1}{5}$ use of them to widow during her life.

To son Elisha, $5, which, with what he had already given him, was his proportion.

To son Isaac, $35, same as Elisha.

To daughter Eunice $100, half in furniture and balance in cash.

To daughter Susannah $100, same as Eunice.

To Abijah Nicholls, deceased, heirs at law, $7.

To grand daughter Nancy $50; probably daughter of Abijah Gale, Jr., who died Jan. 20, 1801.

The Will was proved and allowed Aug. 7, 1804, and Nahum appointed executor. The Inventory amounted to, Real estate $6,166, and personal estate $933.19, being of the total sum of 7,099.

This amount, with what he had already settled on his oldest children, indicates that he was one of the most wealthy men in town.

He was a Hotel keeper and kept a popular stopping place for judges and lawyers between Worcester and Boston; many anecdotes, of which, he used to tell in the latter part of his life. He was fond of Jokes, and tradition says that when his wife left one Sabbath for church she instructed Abijah to "put the pot boiling for dinner," and sure enough he put the pot in a five pail kettle, filled the kettle with water and had the pot boiling in good earnest when the good wife returned.

Being a good business man, he was continually pressed with town offices; hence we find him Constable 1764; on the committee to hire a schoolmaster, in 1768; surveyor of boards and shingles, and on a committee to put in four new pews in the church, 1769; surveyor of highways in 1770; one of a committee of seven, in 1773 "to take into consideration ye rights as stated by the committe of Correspondence of ye town of Boston and of ye infringe-ments and violations of ye same." After naming the grievances of the Colonies this Committee say: "it appears that every member of this committee, qualified to act in town affairs, should at all times have a proper sense of them, more especially as ye Future happiness of his Family, as well as himself depends greatly on their being Removed. For no Dought ware tyranny is exercised opposition becomes a Duty. As our fathers could, so can we plead our Loyalty, we have been and now are ready to spill our dearest blood in Defence of our King, Religion and Constitutional Laws, we cannot but look upon it as a hard Trial, yea greater than we can bear, if we cannot be said to give full proof of our Loyalty, otherwise than by sacrificing those Right and Liberties which we prize beyond life itself." In the same year he was chairman of a Committee to sell "Pne Spots" round the church. In 1775, he was one of the Committee of Inspection and Observation" recommended by the Continental Congress.

In 1777, was Chairman of a Committee "to make a remonstrance to the General Court concerning the state money being put on loan " &c.

In 1778, was Chairman of the Committee to consult together on the plan of Government sent out by Congress. He reported that : "We are of the opinion that the Protestant Religion is not duly guarded in said constitution. Also we think it might be well to acknowledge the Superintendence of Heaven in the Stile :By adding these words : (under God) after the words Shall be, which remark we humbly submit to the town for acceptance."

The same year he was Chairman of a Committee "to give instruction to our Representative concerning ye Constitution"; and on another Committee "to settle with those who had been in the military service of the United States " ; and also Moderator of the town meeting.

In 1779, he was Chairman of the selectmen and the same the following year (an important office in those days.) After the latter date, he was occasionally Moderator and on Committee.—:Children :

(97.) V. ELISHA GALE, of Princeton, m. May 20, 1762, SARAH, dau. of James Jones, of Weston. Sarah was b. at Weston, Aug. 3, 1737 and survived her husband. Elisha, entered the King's Service, Sept. 15, 1755 and was in the expedition to Crown Point of that year, and acted as clerk in the Co. commanded by Capt. Jonathan Baldwine. He was discharged Dec. 14, 1755, having served 13 weeks, and received for his services, besides travelling expenses, £5 10s. 9d. He belonged to the "Train Band" at Weston, April 18, 1757, and removed to Princeton after his marriage where his children were born. His Will was dated June 25, 1774; he died July 4, 1774, and the Will was proved and allowed July 11, 1774.

By his Will he gave his wife, Sarah, the use of all his property until his dau. Anna became 7 years of age and then $\frac{1}{3}$ only.

To his sons, Luther and Calvin and the survivor of them, $\frac{1}{2}$ of all real estate.

To his daughters, Sally, Clarissa and Anna and the survivors of them, the other half.

The Inventory called him a "Blacksmith" and appraised his estate as follows:

"Homestead farm,	£280.
"The other farm in Princeton,	193 6s. 8d.
"8 acres in Hubbardton,	2 8
"In door moveables,	19 16 8
Total.	£650 17s. 1d."

Among his personal property, named, was his blacksmith's tools and stock, and farm stock and implements and "one pair of leather breeches," &c.—Children:

219. 1. Luther, b. Jan. 3, 1765; was a tanner and d. at Lennox, March 5, 1846.

223. 5. Anna, b. April 29, 1774; m. Oct. 7, 1792, Nathan Perry.

(103.) (V) SAMUEL GALE, of Waltham, m. July 17, 1755, Anna, dau. of Dea. Samuel Fiske, of Waltham, who was grandson of John Fiske, b. in England, about 1619 and one of the early settlers of Mass. Anna d. June 2, 1800.

Samuel, was in Capt. Abraham Pierce, Co. of Waltham, "called out," says the muster roll, April 19, 1775 "to the Concord and Lexington fite in defence of the Liberties of amarica." His son, Samuel, was in the same expedition. He was allowed 6s. 9d. for three days service and 28 miles travel. What further service this father performed, during the war, there is no very definite record found, but being within two hours march of Boston, the Waltham Co. probably stood as "minute men," until after the evacuation of Boston by the British troops, the 17th of March, 1776. He was probably the Samuel Gale who served under Capt Ward, from Jan. 22, to Aug. 19. 1776, for 6 m. and 26 days, with extra wages for service in Boston, 25 days, £3 3s. 0½, where he was discharged. This, however, might have been his son, Samuel, before he entered Capt. Fuller's Co.

Samuel occupied the old homestead and May 9, 1792, made his Will, giving $\frac{1}{3}$ of his property to his wife, Anna. To daughter, Anna, wife of John Cutting, £300, and all the balance of the property to be equally divided between his two sons, Jacob and Alpheus, who were appointed the executors. He d. March 6, 1793 and his Will was proved in court, March 13, 1793.

The Inventory and appraisment, dated April 20, 1793, set the Real Estate at £2500, and all other estates at £342 4s., making total of all estates £2842 4s.

According to the Assessment Roll, of Waltham, 1771, Samuel was assessed for an annual income on real estate of £40 per annum, for one negro slave, between 14 and 45 years of age, two horses, two oxen, twelve cows, 150 bushels of grain, 40 barrels of cider, and other articles in that proportion, usually belonging to a farm.—Children :

224. 1. Samuel, b. Sept. 11, 1756. He made the campaign with his father to Concord, April 19, 1775, after which he entered the patriot service and at the close of the campaign of 1776, was returned on the muster roll of Capt. Fuller, in Col. Brooks, Reg., as among the missing after a battle, and is supposed to have been killed or mortally wounded at the battle of White Plains, Oct. 28, 1776. He was never heard of afterwards by the family.
225. 2. Jacob, b. April 14, 1758 ; m. Sept. 23, 1784. Lois Hagar.
226. 3. Anne, b. Feb. 28, 1759 ; m. Oct. 5, 1780, John Cutting; of East Sudbury.
227. 4. Alpheus, b.—1764 ; m. July 5, 1787, Lydia Hammond.

(110.) (V) ISAAC GALE, Jr., of Royalston, m. in 1756, MENEABLE DWINEL, of DUNEL, of Sutton, removed to Royalston about 1770, and died there, May 19, 1779. He served as sergeant, in the campaign of 1776 in the Northern Army at Ticondaroga, under Col. Samuel Brewer, but no evidence is yet found of any further service in the Revolution, nor in the French war of 1755.—He was called a "miller" and was the owner, when he died intestate of a saw and grist mill in Royalston, and a farm of nearly 200 acres. The return of the Appraisers dated Aug. 28, 1779, valued the whole estate at £11,662 13s. 4d. The debts and cost of the settlement of the estate were reported at £1082 18s. 4d., and the balance was divided among the widow and children, Peter, the oldest son receiving, according to the law then in force, a double share, and the widow one-third of the whole estate. The currency was then in an expanded condition and the administratrix in the settlement of her accounts reduced it at the rate of "20 for 1." to £2709 29s 12d., the supposed hard money value, leaving the real value for the "estate to be divided £1629 11s. 8d. The figures are given as found in the Probate Office, at Worcester, but do not seem to agree :—Children :

228. 1. Peter, b. Dec. 4, 1756 ; m. Prudence French.
229. 2. Susanna, b. July 14, 1758 ; m. Bartholomew French.

(III.) V. ABEL CHACE, of Sutton, m. JUDITH, dau. of Capt. Isaac Gale, of Sutton, Jan. 3, 1754. Mr. Chace was a prominent citizen of the town :—Children :

241. 1. Abel, b. Oct. 29, 1754; m. Anne Bond, of Sutton, Sept. 29, 1779—(See Bond's Gea. no. 499.)

242. 2. Isaac, b. June 26, 1756; d. Sept. 8, 1759.

243. 4i Judith, b. March 19, 1753; d. Sept. 28, 1799.

244 3. Judith, b. March 27, 1760; m. Aaron Parker, of Ward, Nov. 27, 1782.

245 5. Isaac, b. Sept. 12, 1761; m. Sarah Bond, of Sutton, Jan. 8, 1789, and settled in Westford Vt.

His son, Rev. Ira Chace, D. D., graduated at Middlebury College, Vt., in 1814, with the highest honors of his class. Desirous of entering the ministry, he studied at Andover Theological Seminary, where he graduated in 1817, and was the same year ordained a Baptist minister at Danverse and went as missionary to Western Va. The following year he was made a Prof. of Theology in a Seminary at Philadelphia. In 1821, this Seminary was removed to and incorporated with Colambia College at Washington, D. C.—Here Dr. Chace remained four years two of which he was acting President of the College.

Finding that this College did not meet his cherished wishes in educating young men for the ministry, he resigned his position and become one of the principal founders of the Baptist Theological Seminary at Newton, Mass., where he was made Prof. of Biblical Literature, Nov. 28, 1825, which position he held with great acceptability for twenty years, when he resigned and removed to Boston. Near the close of his life he returned to Newton, where he died in 1864, 71 years of age. He was an eminent critical scholar, an eloquent preacher and author of several books and many religious essays.

246. 6. Sarah, b. Jan. 15, 1763; m. Dea. Oliver Bond, Nov. 24, 1785, of Sutton, (See Bond's Genealogy no. 479) She d. Jan. 1834.

249. 9. Persis, b. March 22, 1768; m. Jonathan Richardson, May 7, 1789.
250. 10. Jonathan, b. Feb. 27, 1770.

(112) V. JONAS GALE, of Sutton, m. 1st. TAMER MARSH, who d. soon after, when he m. 2d, Hannah Bancroft, Sept. 20, 1757. She died, and he m. 3d, widow, Rebeckah Gay, Dec. 28, 1783. Jonas d. about 1807.

By the property assessment of Sutton in 1778, Jonas was returned as then in possession of a good farm and stock of cattle.

He is spoken of by some one who still remembers him "as a man of fine personal appearance, dignified and manly bearing, regular features, nose slightly aquiline and fine complexion. According to the fashion of the times, he wore powdered hair, blue coat, yellow buckskin breeches, and white topped boots."

Jonas had but one child, Lydia, who m. and resided on the father's homestead: Child:

251. 1. Lydia, b. Oct. 20, 1758; m. July 11, 1776, Jonah Stiles, of Sutton. They resided on the farm of Jonas Gale in the same town and Jonas Stiles was many years Justice of the peace. Their children were :

- 252. 1. Barnum, m. and settled in Amsterdam, N. Y. on the Mohawk river, where he raised a family.
- 253. 2. Isaac, killed by the bursting of a grindstone in Armory village.
- 254. 3. Lydia, b. 1793 ; d. Aug. 10, 1830, unm.

- 256. 5. Cyrus b.—
- 257. 6. Vernon, m. Sept. 22, 1822, Lucy H. Goddard, of Grafton. He kept a public house in Middlebury and finally removed West.

Jonah Stiles d. Dec. 15, 1822, and Lydia, his wife, Sept. 27, 1810.

(113.) (V.) NEHEMIAH GALE, of Millbury, m. June 24, 1760, RUTH, dan. of Stephen and Ruth (Waters) Marsh of Sutton, occupied the old homestead of his father, Capt. Isaac Gale, took care of his father and mother, from Oct. 1, 1776, to the time of their deaths and had the homestead.

On the military roll his name first appears as having made the campaign with his father in the Expedition for the relief of Ft. William Henry in Aug., 1757, and the 6th of April 1759 he enlisted in the regular service in the Reg. commanded by Col. Timothy Ruggles and probably served on the Northern Frontier under Gen. Amherst during the balance of the war. From the 14th to the 17th of Sept. 1759, he was in the hospital at Fort George, when he returned to his Reg.

In the Revolutionary War, he was an ardent patriot of the fighting class, and on the Lexington alarm in April 1775, he drew his sword, as first Lieut. of the company of Artillery, of Sutton, and marched with the company for the relief of Concord and Cambridge; and the following year served as a private, in the Reg. commanded by Col John Holman, in the expedition to Providence, R. I.—He was also in the battle of White Plains, Oct. 28, 1776

Being in possession of his father's farm and money as interest, he was in independent circumstances and brought into town the first Chaise that was introduced into Sutton. In the days of horseback riding, this vehicle was considered as equivalent to "a Coach and four, and much astonished the natives. We do not claim this to be the "Deacon's one horse Shay" of the school books.

It is said he died while on a visit to his son, Dea. Solomon Gale, at Bennington, Vt., in 1820 and his wife Ruth, d. Oct. 1814. Children :

257. 1 Benjamin, b. April 18, 1761; and d. unm. 1785, at Sterling. He was finely educated and a Physician.
258. 2. Solomon, b. Sept. 12, 1763; m. 1st. Rachel Woodward, and 2d, Phebe Hays.

(115.) V. ELISHA GALE, of Barre, Vt., m. Apr. 8, 1767, MARY, dau. of Hon. Amos Singletary, of Sutton and removed to Princeton, where the most of his children were born, after which time he removed to Barre, Vt. where he died January 17, 1827.

When but a boy, Sept. 15, 1755, he entered Capt. Juduthan Baldwin's Co. and made the campaign with his cousin, Elisha Gale, to Crown Point in the French and Indian war. On the breaking out of the Revolution he was one of the fighting patriots, and on the Lexington alarm, April 19, 1775, he entered Capt. Boaz Moore's Co., and marched to Concord and Cambridge.

March 1, 1776, he was commissioned 2d, Lieut. in the Co. commanded by Capt. Joseph Sargent, in the third Continental Reg., commanded by Col. Nath. Tyler, and June 12, 1779, he was re-commissioned 2d, Lieut. in the Reg. commanded by Col. Josiah Whitney. His wife was b. in Sutton, June 21, 1747, and d. Oct. 30, 1835.

Children :

281. 13. Lucy, b. Dec. 19, 1791 ; m. Clafin ; d. Sept. 16, 1863.
282. 14. Amos Curtis, b. Nov. 26, 1793 ; m. Rhoda Royce.

(130) V. ABRAHAM GALE, m. Nov. 28, 1769, ABIGAIL RICE, of Worcester, dau. of Abalom Rice of that town. Abigail was b. Oct. 7, 1746, and was mentioned in her mother's will, dated July 1, 1791, and also in her father's will, dated June 8, 1771 and proved June 8, 1782.

Abraham, at the time of his marriage, was said to be of Shrewsbury, but removed to Princeton about 1774.

A devoted revolutionary patriot, he went as Sergeant in Capt. Boaz Moore's Company, April 19, 1775, on the Lexington alarm, to Concord and Cambridge, was absent 9 days, marched 46 miles and received therefor £1 3s. 1d. The following March he was commissioned 2d, Lieut. in the Company commanded by Capt. Ephraim Hartwell, in the third Continental Reg. of Col. Nath. Tyler, and re-commissioned as 2d, Lieut., June 17, 1779, in the 12th. Company of the Regiment commanded by Col. Josiah Whitney. In Sept. 1779, he was 2d, Lieut. in David Moore's Company, in the Reg. of Col. John Jacobs, in Rhode Island, near Providence. He was discharged from service at the close of that campaign, Nov. 25, 1799, which probably closed his nearly five years service in the Revolution.

On the Nov. 21, 1786, Abraham was Captain of a company of 60 armed "Regulators" from Princeton, which marched into Worcester, closed the Court House and compelled the Court to adjourn. They then returned home. On the 1st. of the following month, the same company, with many others from different parts of the State, assembled at Worcester, under the leadership of Daniel Shays, compelled the Court to adjourn, signed a petition that no courts be held until after the next session of the Legislature, in May, and were dismissed for home, about the 10th. Dec. (See account of Shay's Rebellion in notice of Henry Gale.) He removed to N. H. soon after the Rebellion and probably d. there. Children :

- 283. 1. Mary, Feb. 7, 1772.
- 284. 2. John, b. April 6, 1774.
- 285. 3. Abigail, b. Aug. 5, 1776.
- 286. 4. Azubah, b. Jan. 8, 1778.
- 287. 5. Betsey, b. March 31, 1781.
- 288. 6. Abraham, b. June 18, 1784.
- 289. 7. Lucy, b. Dec. 19, 1786.

(131.) V. AMOS GALE, m. 1771, HANNAH Maynard, of Grafton and removed from Sutton to Alsted, N. H. where his first three children were born. He then went to Grafton where his fourth child was born, and thence to Princeton where his fifth child was born.

He appears to have served in the campaign in R. I., in the forepart of 1777, in Col. Josiah Whitney's Reg. of Mass. troops, but the writer has no knowledge of what other Revolutionary services he may have performed from N. H. He was afterwards Captain in the Militia. Children :

- 290. 1. John, b. Oct. 4, 1773 ; m. Nancy—.
- 291. 2. Deliverance, b. Sept. 7, 1785.
- 292. 3. Amos, b. Aug. 24, 1777 ; d. in Charlestown or Charlton, April 12, 1856.
- 293. 4. Josiah, b. Aug. 4, 1780.
- 294. 5. James, b. Nov. 11, 1782.

(132.) V. CAPT. HENRY GALE, of Barre, Vt., m. in Jan. 16, 1772, ELIZABETH Drury, of Worcester, and settled in New Paris, afterwards call Ward and still later changed to Auburn, Mass. He was a church going man and the old church records still show that in 1775 he paid £14, for Pew No. 49 in the church of that town.

The war records of Mass. still on file in the office of the Secretary of State at Boston, shows that on the "Lexington Alarm" in April 1775, Henry promptly Volunteered as a private in the company commanded by Capt. John Crowl and marched to Cambridge for which he was allowed £1 4s. ½d. for 11 days and 100 miles travel. Again in the campaign of 1777 he served four months in the Northern Army in the company of Capt. Abel Mason Col. Cushing's Regiment and participated in the glorious victory over General Burgoyne in October of that year. In that campaign he served from Aug. 13, to Nov. 30, when his regiment returned home.

As early as 1771 the records of the town of Princeton show that Henry had in that town a good farm valued at £185, with three buildings and a good stock of cattle, and and in 1778 Henry removed to that town where he resided until he removed to Barre Vt. in about 1790.

In Princeton he lived in comparative independence, and being a man of good education, occupied a high social position, and after the close of the Revolution joined heartily in the discussions of the day, how an independent but bankrupt state might be galvanized into life and a circulating medium in the shape of money established. But while these subjects were racking the brains of the wise and good patriots, of the country, the amnesty proclamation had restored to Boston and other large towns the wealthy loyalists, who had left the state with the British army, when they evacuated Boston.

These wealthy men having lost all sympathy for the rebel country and people on their return commenced indiscriminately the prosecution for the collection of their old claims, most of which had been outstanding during the war. This alarmed the otherwise quiet creditors, and particularly as "Greenbacks" as a legal tender did not then exist and any debtor to the amount of $5, could be ordered to jail. So great was the rush of business to the courts that 2000 cases were said to have been entered at one term of the court at Worcester.

The people in alarm held public meetings and petitioned the legislature for relief.

The legislature sitting in Boston under the influence of Boston merchants and Boston lawyers, who were also reaping a great harvest in high fees, refused the desired relief under the plea that they had no power, a plea generally resorted to when there is a lack of disposition.

The people then petitioned to the courts that they adjourned over without granting the judgments, until some kind of relief could be afforded by the legislature, but the courts declared they would not be instructed in their duty by the people, while Judge Artemas Ward, in a speech of two hours long from the steps of the Court House in Worcester declared to the people that their "conduct was treason and the punishment of treason was death."

Thus the people of Worcester and other interior counties were, for two years, ground between two millstones, the courts and the jails, with nothing but bankruptcy and imprisonment staring them in the face.

To soldiers who had so lately vindicated their rights by their swords and had learned for seven years to treat the word "traitor" as a by-word, it was no hard affair to fly to arms, not to overthrow their government but simply to temporarily stop the courts in granting judgments in civil cases.

The people in many counties organized into companies, chose their officers, marched to the Court Houses and prohibited the holding of the courts. Henry Gale was captain of a company from Princeton and his brother Abraham, was Capt. of a company from Grafton. Daniel Shays, a brave officer in the Revolutionary war, became the commander or general leader. Thus matters run a short time when the Governor ordered out 4000 men and the "Rebels" disbanded, not however in Springfield until they were fired on and three men killed.

The "Rebels" studiously avoided bloodshed.

But this tragedy, in the best style of the books, was to terminate in a farce. Judge Artemas Ward, who was a military man, but no lawyer, had only vindicated his military arm leaving his judicial arm still in limbo. As the judge had boldly threatened the Rebels with the punishment made and provided for "treason," he caused indictments to be found against the supposed leaders in the different counties and convicted what did not slip through his hands by the verdict of the jury.

The writer has procured from the court records in Boston a copy of the indictment and judgment, the material part of which is as follows :

"At the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts began and holden at Worcester on the last Tuesday of April A. D. 1787"&c.

"The jurors for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts upon their oaths present that Jacob Chamberlain of Dudley in the same county, Gentleman, Henry Gale of Princeton in the same county, Gentleman, Josiah Jennison Jr. of Spencer in the same county Yeoman, being members and subjects of the Commonwealth aforesaid," &c. * * "that upon the 5th day of Sept. 1786 and on diverse other days and times as well before that time as since at Worcester within the said county of Worcester falsely and traitorously did devise and conspire to levy war against this Commonwealth and then and there with a great number of rebels and traitors against the Com'th. aforesaid, viz : the number of 500 whose names are yet unknown to the jurors being armed and arrayed in a warlike and hostile manner, viz : with drums beating fifes playing and with guns, pistols, bayonets, swords, clubs and diverse other weapons as well offensive as defensive did falsely and traitorously prepare, order wage and levy a public and cruel war against the Commonwealth, &c., and then and there with force and arms aforesaid wickedly and traitorously did assault, imprison, captivate, plunder, destroy, kill and murder diverse of the leige subjects of the said Commonwealth," &c, &c.

Under this indictment Jacob Chamberlain and Henry Gale were arrested and put upon their trial. They plead not guilty and put themselves on "God and their country." The court in its great clemency assigned to them James Sullivan and Levi Lincoln, Esq. as counsel two of the most noted enemies of the Rebels that were practicing at the bar ; the lawyers being all hostile to the "Rebels" to a great extent.

Thus organized Mr. Chamberlain was acquitted and Capt. Gale convicted of treason and sentenced to "be taken to the Gaol of the Commonwealth from whence he came and from thence to the place of execution and there be hanged by the neck until he be dead."

When the day of execution arrived the old soldier was, by the sheriff, marched to the gallows with great solemnity, the rope adjusted around the neck of the prisoner, solemn prayers said by the clergy and when all was ready to send the prisoner to eternity, the sheriff cautiously drew from his pocket the Governor's reprieve and read it to the gaping crowd and the prisoner was then withdrawn, and soon after fully pardoned.

This was the majesty of the law vindicated," Judge Artemas Ward's threats executed, the novelty of a "hanging bee" witnessed and an innocent man saved from death by the executive pardon based on the theory that laws must be general but that general laws sometimes convict the innocent of a crime.

The same procedure was had in other counties where the General had convicted "Rebels" of treason.

Judge Artemas Ward to the contrary notwithstanding, the position of the "Rebels" that their acts were not treason, is still believed by many, as they did not wish to overthrow the government but only desired to resist the execution of the law for holding the courts for the time being for private purposes. This would not be Treason against the U. S. according to the case U. S. vs Hoxie, Paine, 265, and the U. S. courts refused to make treason of the resistance to the Fugitive slave law.

Indeed, the Governor in pardoning the "Rebels" in effect held the offence not treason but only a contempt of the court.

Thus ended the "first Bebellion" but its effects on Massachusetts did not end here, for a stampede for the wilds of Vermont and N. H. immediately commenced, and thousands of the old soldiers who had won immortality on the battle fields of the Revolution sought in those new States for the enjoyment of those privileges of which they had been denied in their native state. With others, Henry Gale removed to Barre Vt. He was a highly respected citizen of Barre Vt. for several years, when he removed with a son to Brighton N. Y., where he died August 13, 1836. He drew a pension from Government the latter part of his life for his Revolutionary services.

Of his Revolutionary services we have only mentioned such records as the writer found at Boston, but there are several of his descendants who have heard him say that he was sometime an officer in the Revolution and in several battles.—Children :

SIXTH GENERATION.

(176.) VI. JONATHAN GALE, of Warwick, m. Feb. 14, 1775, MARY BANCROFT, of Warwick. He was a prominent man in Warwick and was seven years one of the Select men. He early entered the Revolutionary service and made the campaign from Warwick to Cambridge at the Lexington alarm April, 20, 1775, was absent three weeks and received for wages £2 5s. 6d. 390. 1. Jotham, b. Sept. 1796; m. Clarrissa Gould.

(225.) VI. JACOB GALE, m. Sept. 23, 1784, Lois, daughter of Joseph Hagar, of Waltham, whose great grandfather was the English ancestor who settled in Wattertown and m. Mar. 20, 1644-5, Mary Bemis.

Jacob first entered the Patriot Service March 4, 1776, in the language of the muster roll: "called out by Col. Samuel thatcher in his Regiment wick the march was at the request of Generall Washenton at the taken Possion of dorchester hills and found our own Provisions for 5 days forth fifth sixth seventh and eight days of march 1776." This Roll is in the hand writing of Samuel Holden, Justice of the Peace. He next entered what was called "the Ticonderoga service," April 15, 1776, in the Co. commanded by Capt. Jonathan Danforths, in Col. Whitcom's battalion, and was reported as on the sick list in camp, Nov. 27, 1776, at Ticonderoga. He was probably discharged soon after.

He occupied the old homestead mansion at Waltham, and he and his wife, being very devoted Methodists, made the "Gale mansion" the home of the Methodist traveling preachers for that region of country up to the death of the widow, which occurred Feb. 16, 1851; soon after which time, the old mansion passed into the hands of Gov. Banks, the Maj. General commanding the Army of the South West in 1864, and has ever since remained Governor Banks homestead.

Jacob having lost his only child by death, made his Will to keep the estate in the family, Sept. 21, 1728 by which he gave his wife Lois, after paying his debts, the life use of his whole estate but to be divided after her death as follows :

To Samuel his nephew, son of his brother Alpheus Gale all real and personal estate subject to the payment of the following legacies :

To Samuel's brother Jacob,	$500,
To do sister Sally.	200,
To do sister Lydia,	200.
To do sister Caroline,	200,
To Niece, Mariah Garfield,	500,

Mariah was niece to Jacob's wife and daughter of Joseph and Susanna (Hagar) Garfield, was b. March 7, 1802 and lived much of the time with her Aunt Lois.

Jacob died probably in Nov. and the Will was proved in court Dec. 2, 1828 and the widow appointed executrix. Child :

319. 1. Samuel, b. Feb. 7, 1785 and d. in 1796.

(227) VI ALPHEUS GALE, of Waltham, m. July 5, 1787, LYDIA daughter of Jonathan Hammond, a prominent citizen of Waltham, and Select man from 1765 to '74, Jonathan was of the fifth generation of William Hammond, born in Cavenham, Suffolk Co. England, 1575, settled in New England, 1634 and became one of the proprietors of Watertown 1642. Lydia was b. Oct. 9. 1767 and d. April 6. 1810.

Alpheus, then in his 16 year, volunteered as a private in Capt. Edward Fuller's Co. Col. William McIntosh's regiment March 19, 1778, which was stationed at Roxbury, but was discharged April 5, of the same year.

He became a very active business man and was long regarded as the richest man in Waltham, but his rather sudden death about the first of Aug. 1823 revealed the fact that his name had been signed so often to other men's notes, which were then brought against his estate that the estate, inventoried and appraised at $22,138.28, only paid 89 cents and 5 mills per $1.

The widow, a second wife, only received $300, out of the estate.

It was to remedy, in part, this misfortune that Jacob Willed his property to his brother Alpheus' children. Children :

392. 1. William, b. July 6, 1788. He graduated with honor at Harvard College in 1810, read law, was admitted to the bar, settled in Boston and became one of the most brilliant democratic lawyers of the city. But a disappointment in love, the death of his father and the bankruptcy of the estate, so effected his mind that he became intemperate and died a drunkard in 1839.

393. 2. Nancy, b. May 23, 1791 ; d. June 30, 1808.

394. 3. Sally, b. Aug. 12, 1794 ; she lived unm. at no. 41 Irving St. Boston in April 1864, with her two sisters, looking well.

 399. 8. Caroline, b. June 1, 1806 ; is deaf and dumb, but is educated. She lives with her sister Sally, and remains unm.

(228) (VI) PETER GALE of Barre Vt. born at Sutton Dec. 4, 1756 and m. April 15, 1779, at Royalston. PRUDENCE FRENCH. He served his country in the Revolution, in the Continental Army during the campaign of 1778, in the Reg. commanded by Col. John Jacobs, and was allowed £28 19s. 8d. for service 6 months and 8 days and 120 miles travel ; and was on the muster rolls as "of Royalston." The writer cannot locate the place of service of that Reg. for that Campaign, but from the memorandum on the muster roll ; "Middleton Aug. 27, 1778" he infers that it might have guarded the lower Connecticut river from the British, then occupying N.Y. city. The Reg. however, might have been at the siege of Newport R. I. under Gen. Sullivan.

In Feb. 1793 Peter Gale removed his family to Barre Vt., a month before the organization of the town, and became the 14th family in the town ; and there purchased a tract of wild land including a part of "Cobble Hill," that has since furnished granite for the building of the State House at Montpelier Vt., and commenced pioneer life in earnest. The snow was then six feet deep in the heavy forest of that region.

Peter, having been brought up acquainted with farming, machinery, and mills, was well fitted to pioneer life, and could perform almost any variety of work. Accordingly, we find him clearing land of the native forests, putting in crops, building his house and barn, sheds and fences and often assisting his less ingenious neighbors in fitting up their cabins and erecting mills. He soon had a good farm under cultivation, and put up for himself a fair sized two story frame house with square roof, and also erected for himself a large barn. The house was visited by the writer in 1840 and was in a good state of preservation, but was soon after superseded by a small tidy granite house built by Mr. Wheeten, the then proprietor of the farms.

The fifteenth of August 1817, Peter joined with his son Peter in the purchase of the "Walnut Bow Farm" in Colchester Vt. where he moved his family, but unfortunately, he was attacked with the Fever and Ague soon after he took possession of his new farm and died in Nov. 1818.

He was a man of fine physical proportions, strong mind, of social disposition and great energy of character. His widow survived him and returned with the family to the homestead in Barre Vt. She was born at East Bridgewater, March 17, 1756 and was the daughter of Micah and Ruth French. Micah was born at Braintree and was the son of Thomas (b. 1657) who was the son of John and Ruth French, that were residents of Braintree previous to 1641 and emigrants from England. Children :

(380) VII MAJ. WALTER GALE, of Northboro.

In July 1861 Mr. Gale enlisted as a private in Co. "C." of the 15th Reg. of Massachusetts Vols. and was soon after promoted to sergeant, Jan. 17, 1862 he was promoted to 2d Lieutenant, Oct. 24, 1862 to Captain and July 14, 1864 to Major, when he was ordered home in command of the Regiment, their three years term having expired.

Major Gale was in all the battles in which the Regiment was engaged during the three years and was twice wounded.

We cannot better show the gallant services of Maj. Gale, than by quoting from the report of the Adjutant General of Mass. for 1864, the services performed by the Reg.

"This Regiment (15th.) left the State August 8, 1861. It was first engaged at Ball's Bluff, October 21, 1761 at battles of the Peninsula, Antietam and Fredricksburg in 1862, and at Fredricksburg, Gettysburg, Bristow Station and Robertson's Tavern in 1863. The history of this regiment was brought up to Dec. 20, 1863, in my Report of last year." * * * "On or about the 1st of May, [1864] the campaign opened. A field return on that day gave the strength of the Fifteenth Regiment present for duty, as about three hundred officers and men; of this number, two hundred and seventy-five were rank and file." "In the battle of the Wilderness the regiment lost about one-half its numbers in killed and wounded." "The simple statement that in all the marches and battles from the Rapidan to Petersburg, in which the second Corps was engaged, the Fifteenth Regiment bore its part, is in itself sufficient history."

"On the 22d of June, the regiment, dwindled down to five officers and about seventy muskets, confronted the enemy near the Jerusalem plank road, before Petersburg. A break or gap in the line of battle allowed the enemy to throw a large force on the flank and rear of the Second Division, Second Corps. Hidden from view by a dense undergrowth, the manoeuvre was not comprehended until too late. The first intimation of the position of affairs, was a demand from the enemy to surrender. Taken thus by surprise, and overwhelmed by numbers, the remnant of the regiment was captured almost entire. Four officers and about sixty-five men were marched off prisoners of war; one officer and five men escaped to tell the story. This officer being wounded the same day, and shortly after the disaster above mentioned, the few remaining, increased somewhat by the arrival of convalescents were placed for a few days in another command, until officers of the regiment who had been wounded in the campaign, and who were on their way to the front from hospital, should arrive

"On the 12th day of July, the regiment was ordered to proceed to the city of Worcester, Mass., to be mustered out of service, its term of three years having expired. One company, not mustered in until August 5, 1861, was left in the field; the balance, increased by detachment of sick and wounded men whose condition was such as enabled them to travel, men on detached service, etc., entered the city of Worcester about one hundred and fifty strong. The reception these men received will never be forgotten as long as life and memory shall be granted them."

"His excellency, Gov. Andrew, and staff, together with his honor Major Lincoln, and the city Authorities of Boston, welcomed the regiment home, thanking the men in eloquent words for the part they had borne in their country's struggle, and alluding with tender respect to the honored dead who had fallen in the fight. Both state and city were represented in the military escort and processions. The city, decorated with flags, wore a holiday aspect, and the crowded streets and welcoming shouts gave proof of the heartiness and spirit of the people."

The 28th of the same month the regiment was formally mustered out of service and Major Gale returned his sword to its scabbard.

(400) VII PETER GALE, of Waterbury Vt. m. Jan. 27, 1805 HANNAH TOTTINGHAM of Westminster Mass. HANNAH was daughter of Nathaniel (b. June 10, 1749) and Esther (Brown) Tottingham, Son of Elisha (b. Oct. 18, 1713) and Sarah, (Lawrence) Tottingham; Son of Eliah, (b. Feb. 28, 1652 at Woburn Mass.) and Rebecca Tottingham; Son of Henry and Ann Tottingham supposed to have emigrated from near London and settled at Woburn previous to 1646. Henry was a devoted Puritan and one of the bold petitioners for the liberty of Prophecy, from Woburn, in 1653. Hannah had a vigorous mind, fair common school education, an amiable disposition, was an excellent mother, and a devoted christian of the Congregational church, and died strong in the faith and full of hope, on the 24th of Feb. 1848, at Waterbury Vt.

Peter Gale had a Massachusetts common school education up to 14 years of age, when he removed with his father to the wilds of Vt. after which his opportunities must have been very limited. He, however, wrote a fair hand, was a good reader and understood the rudiments of Grammar and Arithmetic. His memory was very retentive and in old age he would repeat pages of his old "Parry's Spelling Book and Grammar" that he had learned in boyhood days. On the establishment of the "Barre Library" about 1800, he became a stockholder and industrious reader of history and biography, and possessing good conversational powers, was ever an intelligent and agreeable companion, in social life. He united with the Congregational Church at Barre about the time of its formation and was very much devoted to the interest of religion until about 1830 when he became skeptical and the balance of his life was inclined to Deism. In moral life he was without a blemish to the day of his death, and his honesty was proverbial. Politically he was an old school Democrat, voted for Jefferson in 1804 and was an ardent supporter of Madison and the war of 1812. On the declaration of war he enlisted as one of the five "minute men" of Barre and was mustered into the U. S. service in the fall of that year and stationed at Swanton on the Canada line. Here he was attacked with the Measles which prostrated his health so that three months after his enlistment, he was discharged from the service, and sent home on foot, and as the small pay he had received from government was expended in his sickness, he begged his way home as a poor sick soldier. The incidents of that journey, of abuse from the Federalists and kind treatment from the Democrats, he often related to the Writer, to illustrate the party feeling of that day. When the British advanced to Plattsburg, he volunteered in the company from Burlington Vt. and reached that place in time to join in the battle of Sept. 13th, 1814 and was posted to guard the ford of the Saranac river.

On the 30th of April 1803, Peter leased of the School Trustees of Barre "the S. E. $\frac{1}{4}$ of the Second Division English School lot in Sd. Barre," as "long as water runs & timber grows" for the annual rent of \$6,03 $\frac{1}{2}$, and three years after he purchased of Ezekiel Wood an addition to his farm of about 14 acres, for \$140, and received a Warrantee deed thereof.

On this farm he erected substantial buildings and commenced life as a farmer, but his buildings having burned when the fire was running through the woods, and having lost his health in the service, he sold the farm for wooden ware in 1813 and removed to Burlington, where he opened a wooden ware shop and manufactured and sold such articles for several years. In 1817 he removed to Colchester Vt. where he and the most of his family were sick two years with the "fever and ague," then returned to Burlington and in 1824 removed to Waterbury Vt. and opened a new farm on the eastern slope of the Green mountains, in which town he died with "old age," Aug. 6, 1851, at the residence and under the attentive care of his daughter, Mrs. Henry. He lived to see his children all married and comfortably settled in life and then sunk to the earth like an "ear of corn fully ripe."

But the peculiarity of his life is yet to be stated. He was a natural mechanic. He could build a house, frame a barn, erect a saw-mill or set a horse-shoe. He often made ingenious articles of machinery and the latter part of his life experimented considerably on "flying machines," on the principle of the screw as a propeller, but finally came to the very sensible conclusion that the air was made for birds but the earth for man. Although an attentive reader of the political newspapers of the day, he had no taste for political promotion and seldom would accept even a School District office. He had the following children:

- 680. 1. Hiram, b. Feb. 6, 1808; m. Sally Bryant.

(453) VII NEHEMIAH GALE of LeRoy, N. Y. m. Oct. 10, 1810 to LUCY PARKER, who was b. near Boston Oct. 22, 1786. The winter subsequent to the marriage they removed and located at Champion, Jefferson Co. N. Y. At the commencement of the war of 1812 he enlisted in the U. S. Service and was stationed at Sacket's Harbor to guard the frontier where he was often engaged in raids on the British and resisting them when made by the enemy. He was in the attack on Prescott made by the "Julia," mentioned in the history of Jefferson Co. At the close of the war he settled in Houndsville in the same county, which proved to be distinguished for nothing except continual Fever and Ague, where he or some of his family were constantly on the sick list. In 1829 with shattered constitution and decimated family he removed to LeRoy and settled on a farm where he remained until his death June, 9, 1844. Having assisted his father in, early life in opening one of the iron ore beds at Bennington Vt. he became interested in ores and made several discoveries of ore beds, since extensively worked.

He was proverbial for his honesty, an instance of which mentioned in the history of Jefferson Co. proved fatal to the U. S. Paymaster. Whittlesey, who claimed to have been robbed of $30,000. Whittlesey marked a package of the money and dropped it in the road expecting some one would pick it up and put it in circulation, when he would have a prima facie case against him of the robbery and by hard swearing by Whittlesey, could be sent to states prison. Unfortunately for the Paymaster Mr. Gale found it in the road, and, instead of putting it in circulation advertised it. Whittlesey, in the meantime having given notice of the robbery to government. The circumstances raised a suspicion of fraud. Whittlesey and his wife were searched and the $30,000, less only the amount found by Gale, was found in the possession of the wife of Whittlesey. The wife drowned herself in Black river to cover her shame, and the husband was taken in charge by the government. In his religious opinions Nehemiah was devoted to the Christian denomination, and was noted for his piety.

His pecuniary circumstances became easy the latter part of his life, and his death was caused by the kick of a horse. His wife died of consumption Sept. 25, 1859.

(456) ·VII DEACON ISAAC GALE, of Morris Ill. m. Jan. 19, 1824, at Hoosick, N. Y., LYDIA S. GARDNER, of that town and settled on a farm in Bennington Vt. near the place of his birth. Isaac loved study and desired a liberal education but the circumstances of his father did not favor the plan, and he abandoned the idea, which was the source of regret the balance of his life. He was a pious member of the Baptist Church in Bennington, and succeeded his father as Deacon in that church.

In the summer of 1856 he removed to Beaver Dam, Wis. where he went into trade, but the reverses of 1857 and 1858 made him a bankrupt, and he removed to Morris, Grundy Co. Ill. where his wife died Aug. 26, 1861, and he stricken with grief was removed to Pavillion, Ill. by his son Elbridge, but took to his bed and died there the 6th of Sept. following, only eleven days after his wife. The father and mother received every attention possible from the son, Rev. Elbridge Gale, and other members of the family, but death claimed his victims, and the two soon met again in the land of the christian's rest. Dea. Gale was greatly respected during his short residence at Beaver Dam, Wis. Children :

(432) VII DEa. ANSEL HAYS GALE of Sandusky Ohio, m. Jan. 8, 1850, AMANDA E. dr of Hiram Spencer Esq. of Greenfield, Huron Co. Ohio. who was born July 3, 1829.

Ansel received good primary education and read law five years with Gov. John S. Robinson of Vt. and was admitted to the Bar about 1843. He then spent four years in the office of Hon. D. L. Seymour of Troy N. Y. and in the Spring of 1848 left for the west. After traveling through portions of the west he concluded to throw up the profession of the law and go into trade and settled at Sandusky Ohio, where he opened a Hardware store. In 1861 he purchased a sheep farm in Iowa and the following year sent out 1000 sheep and stocked the farm which is conducted by a tenant. He is by faith a Baptist and Deacon of a Baptist Church in Sandusky, and has been master of the Masonic Lodge No. 50 for the last three years.

Originally he was an old School Democrat but after the commencement of the late rebellion he joined the Union party of Ohio and was "firm in the faith that the Rebellion would be crushed, was an early believer in the necessity of emancipating the slaves and introducing them into the army" and "in favor of enfranchising the blacks at once. He has been successful in business and is one of the live men of Sandusky. Children :

(460) VII REV. SOLOMON GALE, of Tolland Conn. m. Dec. 28, 1835, Emily Stone of Stamford Vt.

He was converted to religion in June 1831 and in Aug. following was baptised and admitted into the Baptist church in the town of Hoosick N. Y. where he then resided. Desirous of entering the ministry, he the same fall, commenced his Academical studies in Bennington Vt., and at a subsequent time studied Theology under Prof. E. B. Smith in the Baptist institution at New Hampton N. H. and was finally ordained April 28, 1836.

In 1841 he was pastor of the Baptist Church at Bristol Vt. and in 1865 had charge of the church at Tolland Conn. but the writer has no further knowledge of the location of his ministry. He is a sound theologian, an eloquent preacher, and has been a successful instrument in the conversion of souls to the Kingdom of Christ, having baptised on an average one each month from the commencement of his ministry. He has never had any children and the energies of his life have been devoted to the spread of the Gospel and the salvation of the world.

(466) VII DR. LEONARD D. GALE, of N. Y. city, m. Aug. 21, 1835, ANNA E., dau, of Capt Lewis Smith of N. Y. who commanded a war vessel in the war of 1812.

(470) VII DEA. JONAS RUSSEL GALE of Delavan, Ill. m. Sept 28, 1829, Cynthia Maria Adams of Southboro, who was born May 19, 1807. He received a good primary education and at the age of eighteen went to N. Y. city and entered the factory of Enos Baldwin and learned the business of manufacturing Planes &c, where he remained until of age, and then went into the same business at Providence R. I. with one S. R. Cummings. In 1836 he sold out and removed in September to Alton Ill. In the spring of 1838 he was one of the 40 who were placed to guard the press of Elijah Lovejoy, the abolitionist. It was landed and placed in the third story of a warehouse. The next morning Mr. Lovejoy, was shot by the mob.

Dea. Gale having already commenced a farm in Delavan, to avoid the excitement of the times he removed on to his farm and became a successful farmer. In 1833 he joined with his neighbors and erected a Baptist Church for the Baptist society over which he was Deacon ; and being the only one of much property the main burden fell upon him. After exhausting the amount raised for the Church at Delavan, Dea. Gale and his wife returned east and raised the balance among their friends to complete the building. Mrs. Gale however, did not long survive the completion of her cherished object, but died Feb. 27, 1855 of a disease of the spine.

Dea. Gale m. 2d. April 16, 1856 Rosina L. daughter of Dr. H. L. Latham, of Whitehall, Ill. but formerly from Long Island.

Deacon Gale was a pioneer settler at Delavan and by his activity and zeal, he has acted a prominent part in establishing christian civilization in southern Illinois. In 1862 his son Charles L. enlisted in the 75 Ill. Reg. and was in the battles of Perryville and Stone river. Henry R. enlisted about the same time in the 115 Reg. and was in the battles of Chicamauga, Rocky Face, Dalton, and Nashville. VIII HON. JAMES M. HENRY, of Waterbury, Vt. who m. March 25, 1831, MATILDA GALE. was the son of Sylvester Henry Esq. an old and wealthy farmer in Waterbury and one of the early settlers in that town.

James was b. June 7, 1809 and was a young man of fair talent, whose superior social qualities made him the leader of all the balls and parties in town, and according to the customs of the times, contracted the habit of the moderate use of intoxicating liquors. After his marriage the habit increased and he became for a while dissipated, but enlisted in the Washingtonian reformation, became an excellent temperance lecturer, and forever after a teetotaler. His father gave him a small farm and saw mill on Waterbury river, where he resided from the time of his marriage until about 1852, when he removed to the village, opened a Drugstore, and wholesaled patent medicines through nearly all New England, N. Y. and Canada, and thereby accumulated a considerable property. For several years, he was an acting magistrate and represented the town in the legislature for two successive years, (1860, '61). He was a lively and influential public speaker, and of very superior conversational powers. In politics he was a Democrat, but finally joined the Republican party in the latter part of his life. As a politician his forte was to manage the wires, and several of the Governors, members of Congress and other high officials were indebted to him for their nomination and election. He d. with a disease of the brain Dec. 28, 1863. The moral and Educational culture of the family mainly devolved on the mother, and she has nobly acquitted herself in those duties. She has for some years been a member of the Congregational Church. Matilda m. 2d, John Tenny Esq. and resides in Waterbury, Vt. Children :

July 20, 1864 and was promoted to Second Lieut. The Reg. was ordered to Camp Rendezvous, Fair Haven, Conn. where it remained two months and was then ordered to the Front at Petersburg, Va. Here the Reg. was stationed at Ft. Davis.

The 2d of April 1865, the Regiment was ordered out at 2½ o'clock in the morning, to storm the Rebel Ft. Mahone. They met with a determined resistance, and were twice driven back, but on the third assault they reached the fort when Lieut. Henry, then one of the only two officers left in the Reg., was shot through the body in front of an embrasure. He was carried off the field and died a six o'clock P. M. Lieut. Henry was highly esteemed in the Reg. as well as in social life.

8. George Sylvester, b. July 4th 1848. He also enlisted in the same Co. in the 17th Reg., participated in the charge on Ft. Mahone, and was near his brother Edwin when he was shot. George escaped without injury during the balance of the war, and was honorably discharged with his Reg. after the close of the war.

VIII Hon. GEORGE GALE LL. D., of Galesville, Wis., was b. at Burlington, Vt. Nov. 30, 1816, and m. at Elk Horn Wis. Dec. 5, 1844, GLERTRUDE, dau. of Capt. George Young of the latter town. George's father removed his family to Waterbury, Vt. in June 1824 and commenced a new farm in the woods on the eastern slope of the Green Mountains. The facilities for an education was a common school, a mile down the mountains, which was made available, and the children all obtained a fair common school education including Arithmetic and Grammar. Until his sixteenth year George was regarded as a dull scholar, and made no more than the ordinary advancement in his studies, but excelled in his skill in hunting the Partridge and Woodchuck with his dog and gun, and in fishing for the speckled trout in the mountain brooks, to which sports he devoted every hour which he could obtain from his ordinary employment in clearing land and farming. But, in the summer of his sixteenth year, he borrowed of a neighbor, Walter Scott's Life of Bonaparte, which he read through very attentively and it had the effect of arousing his latent ambition, and he came to the very sensible conclusion that usefulness, fame and wealth, was not so much an accident, as an achievement reached by patient industry and talent, and that in that age of science and knowledge the successful competitor would probably be the one best instructed in the science and knowledge of the world.

From this time hunting and fishing ceased to be his favorite sport and he devoted, every leisure moment in reading approved authors in history, biography and travels, and after about two years he procured Flint's treatise on Land surveying, and fully mastered its contents without an instructor and commenced practical Surveying with success. After surveying, he took up Navigation, Webber's Hutton's and Farrar's mathematics, Enfield's Philosophy, Henry's and Orfila's Chemistry, and works on Astronomy, Mineralogy and Geology, and at twenty-one years of age George had obtained a fair knowledge of the higher mathematics and Natural History.

Thinking it would be well to test his attainments by an examination, Mr. Gale, submitted himself to Mr. Jeremiah Flint, A.M. a graduate of Middlebury College in 1811, who had been his master, a part of two winters years before, in the common school, and after a fair examination Mr. Flint gave him the following certificate :

Waterbury March 10th 1838,

To all whom it may concern :

The subscriber has been acquainted with the Bearer, George Gale, for seven years and has frequently had him for a pupil. He loves study and has not loved it in vain. He is in a great measure self instructed, and by industry close application and perseverance he has, unquestionably, attained unto a more correct knowledge of Trigonometry, Navigation and particularly Surveying than most of our liberally educated young men. Such young men should be patronized, and, indeed they will be. The subscriber would not hesitate, a moment to employ him as a correct surveyor, in the common business of his avocation.

Jer. Flint.

In March 1839, Mr. Gale commenced reading law, in 1840 was appointed Post Master at Waterbury Center, Vt. and in 1841 was admitted to the bar, emigrated west and settled at Elk Horn, Walworth county, Wis. Here he opened an office and entered into a successful practice of the law. Unlike some others, he continued his law studies with great diligence for four years, and became, in fact, a well read lawyer.

Mr. Gale held several town offices among which was Chairman of the Town Board of Supervisors for two years and was also Chairman of the County Board of Supervisors for two years. In the fall of 1847 he was elected a member of the Convention called to form the present State Constitution and served on the judiciary committee. The same fall, he was also elected District Attorney and in the fall of 1849, a State Senator for two years. The first year in the Senate, he was Chairman of the Committee of Privileges and Elections and the second year Chairman of the Judiciary Committee. He was an active member of the Senate and made several speeches and reports which were published.

July 4, 1851, he received from the Governor of Wisconsin, the appointment of Brigadier General in the Militia. The fall of the same year Mr. Gale removed to the Upper Mississippi and settled at LaCrosse, and was the same fall elected County Judge, for a term of four years, of LaCrosse county, and Chippewa county attached to LaCrosse county for judicial purposes. As the county judge had common law as well as probate jurisdiction, he was often engaged two weeks at a time trying causes. His office he resigned January 1, 1854, and April 1st 1856 was elected Circuit Judge for the sixth judicial circuit of Wisconsin composed of the counties of Buffalo, Clark, Jackson, Monroe, Trempealeau, LaCrosse, Vernon and Crawford, for the judicial term of six years, commencing Jan. 1, 1857.

When Mr. Gale first settled at LaCrosse he saw that all Northwestern Wisconsin was entirely destitute of any College, or other high institution of learning, and he urged upon the lauded proprietors of that place to set aside ten acres of land back of the Village and take the initiatory steps to establish such an institution, but they turned a deaf ear and nothing of the kind was attempted. Mr. Gale then conceived the idea, of not only starting a college, but a town, himself; and in 1853 purchased about two thousand acres of land at the present location of Galesville, including the waterpower on Beaver Creek, and in January 1854 procured from the legislature of Wisconsin, the organization of the new county of Trempealeau, with the location of the county seat at Galesville, and a University charter with the same location. In June of the same year, he laid out a small village plot and let a contract for the erection of mills, but the mills (saw and flouring) were not completed until 1856.

The Board of Trustees of the Galesville University, was organized in 1855 and a College building commenced in 1858, and the preparatory department opened for students early in May of the following year, and the collegiate department in September 1861; and the first college class graduated July 12, 1865. After the graduation of the class Mr. Gale resigned the Presidency of the University when the Board unanimously adopted the following offered by Rev. W. H. Brockson of LaCrosse:

“Resolved, That the Board tender to Hon. George Gale, LL. D. late President of this University, their profound thanks for his able and faithful administration for the period of nearly seven years as President of the Faculty and for over ten years as President of this Board.'

"Resolved further, That we tender to Hon. George Gale, LL. D., as its principal founder and patron, the Freedom of this University and the use of its Library as a token of our high appreciation of his long and efficient services, for which he has ever refused all pecuniary consideration."

The Galesville University went into the hands of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1858 and a majority of the Board of Trustees are appointed by the Church.

Mr. Gale removed from the then city of LaCrosse to Galesville in May 1857 and went on to a farm where he resided in 1866.

Although not a regular College graduate in course, yet Mr. Gale received from the Vermont University at Burlington, the degree of the Master in the Arts, in August 1857, and from the Board of Trustees of Galesville University, in July 1863, the degree of LL. D.

Mr. Gale's health partially failed in the Summer of 1862 and the three following winters he spent in the South and East, most of the time in the service of the Sanitary and Christian Commissions. During the months of February and March he had charge of the U. S. Sanitary Commission Depot on Morris Island S. C. for the siege of Charleston.

Mr. Gale has not entirely ignored literary labors, but in August 1845 started the "Western Star," the first newspaper published in Walworth County, Wisconsin, which he sold out in less than a year, and in 1846, issued the first edition of his "Wisconsin Form Book" which was revised and re-published in 1848, 1850 and 1856, and 5500 copies sold in Wisconsin. He has also the manuscript prepared and in press, of a book entitled "The Upper Mississippi, or Historical Sketches of the Introduction of Civilization into the Northwest," a work covering the period from 1800 to 1866; and has been the regular correspondent of the "Galesville Transcript," from March 1860, for five years. The Gale Family Records have also cost him a large amount of labor. Children:

1. George, b. Sept. 14, 1845, graduated A. B. at Galesville University July 13, 1865.
2. William, b. Oct. 23, 1848.
3. Helen, b. Dec. 5, 1850.

VIII SAMUEL S. LUCE, of Galesville, Wis. b. at Stowe, Vt., Feb. 1, 1818: m. Dec. 7, 1847, HANNAH GALE, of Waterbury, Vt.. By trade, he was a house carpenter and Architect. After his marriage he removed to Waterbury, and purchased a part of the Mills on Waterbury river, built most of the Depots on the Vt. Central R. R., from Montpelier to Burlington, and in the spring of 1857, removed to the place of his present residence, where he superintended the erection of the present University Building and of the mansion of Geo. Gale.

In March 1850, he started the "Galesville Transcript," a weekly paper which he continued to edit and publish until October 1865, when he sold it to Leith & Gale; and for four successive years, has held the office of Town Treasurer, and six years the post of Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Galesville University. At the Commencement, in July 1864, the University gave him the honorary degree of A. M..

Mr. Luce and his wife are both good writers of prose and poetry. In Nov. 1865, Mr. Luce was elected Superintendent of Schools for the County of Trempealeau.

IX GEN. WILLIAM WIRT HENRY, of Waterbury, Vt., m. August 5, 1857, MARY JANE, dau. of Lyman Beebe, of that town. About 1849, Mr. Henry went to California, where he remained about 7 years, enjoying all the ups and downs of California fortunes, has been alternately rich and poor several times. When he returned he entered into partnership with his father and brother John in the drug and patent medicine business, in Waterbury, and prosecuted a lucrative and successful business.

On the breaking out of the war of the Rebellion, William enlisted in the Waterbury company of Volunteers, and was elected and commissioned, June 20, 1861, First Lieutenant. The company went into the Second Vt.

Reg., as Co. "D." and the Regiment was sent to Washington, D. C., and was in the battle of first Bull Run.

Lieut. Henry was attacked with the measles at the commencement of the "advance to Richmond," but the prospect of a fight was superior to disease and he advanced with his company and participated in the battle of Bull Run, but the night after the battle he caught a severe cold, which nearly cost him his life. He was sick the balance of the fall and was mustered out of service for ill health, Nov. 4, of the same year.

Having regained his health the next year, he accepted the post of Major of the 10th, Vt. Vols., his commission bearing date, August 27, 1862. He was promoted Lieut. Col. of the Regiment, Oct. 17, of the same year and Col. April 26, 1864. The Regiment was put in what was called the Vt. Brigade and was in the Second Army Corps.

The Regiment advanced, under Gen. Grant, towards Richmond, in the spring of 1864, and was in that series of murderous battles to Petersburg. The Regiment was then sent to the Shenandoah Valley and fought another series of battles under Gen. Sheridan. Col. Henry led his Regiment through all these battles, except the last battle on the Shenandoah, which occurred when he was absent on leave. March 7, 1865, Col. Henry was Brevetted Brigadier General, by the War Department, for "gallant and meritorious conduct at the battles of the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Coal Harbor, Monocacy and Cedar Creek." Gen. Henry had his right fore finger shot off at the battle of Coal Harbor, where he, with the 10th Vt. Reg., captured a North Carolina Regiment in their rifle pits.

On returning to Waterbury, Gen. Henry purchased the farm, half a mile west of the village, formerly the residence of the late Gov. Butler, but sold it last spring to the State of Vt., and the State has established upon it a Reform School. He was elected a State Senator from Washington Co. Vt., in Sept. 1865 and was re-elected to the same office in 1866. Children :

GENEALOGY OF THE TOTTINGHAM FAMILY IN AMERICA.

TOTTINGHAM was the name of a very ancient and aristocratic family of London, Eng. and its suburbs, where there is still "Tottenham Court Road" an important street in London and "Tottenham," a town near the city.

The Totenhams had their well authenticated coats of arms in the Fendal ages and Burk gives the line of descent from several distinguished in the early history of England, but our limits will not allow us to copy.

Henry became a nonconformist of the strictest puritanic order and therefore came to America with his religious brethren for the enjoyment of that freedom of conscience which was denied him in his native land, and is the only one by that name that ever emigrated to America so far as the information of the writer extends.

He settled and purchased a farm near the village of Woburn Mass. which continued with his descendants until about 1845 when the proprietor, an old maid by the name of Rebecca, willed it to her hired maid.

We give in the following records of all the Tottinghams we have heard of in America except Henry Edwin Tottingham, whom the writer met at Waltham Mass. in 1864 who promised his family record but has neglected to furnish it. He was a second or third cousin to the writer, and was born near Ashburnham. He did not know the name of his grandfather.

In latter years the name has been written 'Tottingham' in Mass. and Vt.

1. 1. HENRY TOTTENHAM, of Woburn, Mass., the ancestor of this family in America, settled there, at, or previous, to 1643. His wife, Anna, died Dec. 23d 1653 and he married 2d Alice Alger (or Eager) the 13th of May 1654. He was a member of the church and one of the Petitioners for the liberty of Prophecy Aug. 30, 1653 and died April 5th 1728. By his wife Anna he had the following children :

2. 1. Nehemiah, b. Aug. 23, 1646, who died, probably unm. March 28, 1714.

3. 2. Elijah, b. Feb. 28, 1652; m. Mary —.

HISTORICAL SKETCHES OF SOME OF THE
DESCENDANTS OF REV. EVERARDUS BOGARDUS.

1. REV. EVERARDUS BOGARDUS, m. June 21, 1642 ANNETTE JANSEN, of New York the widow of Roelof Jansen of that city. Mr. Bogardus was the first minister of the Reformed Dutch Church at New Amsterdam about 1633 and obtained a grant of sixty two acres of land on Manhattan Island, now New York city, which afterwards became the Trinity Church Property and which has caused so much noise in the world. He was a native of Holland and about 1647 sailed for Holland, probably on the business of his church, and with 80 passengers was wrecked off the coast of Wales and all perished. It is said that Col. Aaron Burr first discovered a defect in the title of Trinity Church to this property and some of the heirs of Bogardus have prosecuted suits against Trinity Church to recover the property but failed under the statute of limitations. During the excitement over this property special efforts were made to trace out the descendants of Bogardus and it was found that the number reached nearly 10,000, in 1840. The late Isaac Hallenbake Esq. of Albany county N. Y. was among those who interested themselves in hunting up these heirs, and about twenty years ago he gave the following list of descendants to Rev. (24) VII. CAPT. GEORGE YOUNG, was b. at

Hagerstown Maryland. 1773, and m. NANCY WALDRON, of Schenectady N. Y. in 1800. His mother, Christiana was the daughter of Christopher Vought, a wealthy farmer of Hunterdon N. J. and married, Rev. John Young of Hunterdon, a Lutheran minister, who was put in charge of the Hagerstown church. Christiana died when her son George was only two weeks old and George was taken home by Mr. Vought, his grandfather, and brought up to manhood. Rev. John Young married again and had a family, one son of which was a judge in Ohio. The last notice which the writer has found of him is the following in a letter from Rev. H.M. Machlenberg to Rev. Dr. Frey, Linghausen of the University of Halle, dated about 1783 :

"In Maryland, in a neighborhood termed Conecocheague, (now Washington county) is stationed the Rev. Mr. Young, who has charge of three Congregations, Hagerstown &c. He was examined and ordained several years ago, by our American ministerium, but during the present year met with a sad accident : namely, his horse fell and threw him headlong on the ground, on his way to church. He arose again uninjured, but then his horse kicked him and broke three of his ribs which have not been properly set, but have grown crooked so that he moves with difficulty and will scarcely be able to continue his pastoral labors," (See "Hallesche Nachrichten," page 1413.) In a previous letter dated Dec. 6, 1782 between the same persons it is stated that "Rev. Young in M. D. is a man who labors with industry and fidelity, and faithfully discharges his duties, both in life and doctrine in several congregations" (same page 1425. The writer is indebted to Rev. Dr. S. S. Schmucker of Gettysburg College, Pa. for the foregoing extract and translations from the German work.

Christopher Vought was a Loyalist during the Revolutionary war and much of his property was confiscated to the U.S. After the war he removed to Nova Scotia when where he received a large grant of land and a pension for life of 365, crowns a year from the British government. He returned to the United States about 1794 and settled at Duaneburg where he had 2000 acres of land that had not been confiscated. Half of this land he gave to Capt. George Young who made it his residence for many years.

Capt. Young first commenced business at Scheuectady, N. Y. as a merchant but subsequently went on to his farm built a large hotel which he kept over thirty years and then removed to Elk Horn, Walworth Co, Wis., where he settled in June 1843. He died in August 1844 from an injury received in falling from an oat stack.

Capt. Young was several years Capt. of an independent company of Cavalry, which was called into service of the United States in the war of 1812,

Mrs. Nancy (or Anna as she called her self) Young was in excellent health as late as July 1866. Children :

THE RECORDS OF THE SECOND FAMILY OF GALES.

Among the different families of Gales in the United States, with whom the writer has become acquainted, he found extant almost uniformly, the tradition that their ancestors were four brothers, natives of England, who landed at Boston in the early settlement of Massachusetts, from whence they became settlers in different parts of the country. That the Gales of this country were from England there is no doubt at the present day, and that the tradition is further corroborated by the appearance of John Gale at Boston in 1634, Richard at Watertown in 1640. Edmund at Cambridge in 1642 and Hugh at Kittery or York in 1652 is also settled beyond a doubt by the records of Massachusetts; but that the Gales of this country descended from those four is, as yet only established so far as relates to the descendants of Richard, and the further fact that John died young and probably unmarried.

Whether either Edmund or Hugh had families we have no records, but on tracing the family of Richard, the writer soon found Gales that he was satisfied did not belong to his descendants and must be accounted for on some other hypothesis. If the tradition is true, then these persons were evidently the children of Edmund and Hugh or one of them, but as we do not find any of them as far north as York, or bearing the name of Hugh, the writer is forced to assume the probability that they were the children of Edmond of Cambridge, but were born in England, as no record of their birth has yet been found in this country.

But if we are totally in error, either in the tradition or the assumed probabilities, we nevertheless accomplish the purpose of this work, of giving historically all the facts we can gather relating to the persons named. If they were not relatives as assumed, they nevertheless had an existence, and filled their appropriate niches in the great temple of the world.

1 EDMOND GALE, of Cambridge, died in Boston, in 1642. Supposed children :

2 1 Thomas b. and m. probably in England and settled in New Haven, Ct., where he had Martha bapt. March 18, 1660, and Abigail, bapt. June 22, 1660. Their births are mentioned as follows : Martha, b. May 6, 1655 and Abigail. b. May 5, 1660. We have no further mention of Thomas or his children :

3 2 Robert, b.—. The only mention of him were the facts that May 14, 1659, he receipted sugar of William Hollisworth at Salem, and again in 1666, receipted 3700 lbs. of Muscovado Sugar at Salem.

SECOND GENERATION.

(4) II AMBBOSE GALE, of Marblehead, m. probably in England. In a deed, in 1698, his wife was called Deborrah and Deborrah Gale was admitted to the church 1695, which is the only mention of her name that we have. His first three children were baptized at Salem. He first purchases land at Marblehead, Dec. 4, 1663, at which time he was called a Fisherman. His next purchase was June 28, 1666 when he was called a Planter. He became a frequent dealer in real estate, in the deeds of which he was called a Fisherman, Planter, Cooper and Merchant, and it is very evident that his business was to buy fish, pack them and send them to market.—Indeed, at that early day, fishing, agriculture and ship-building was the business of most of the people of Mass.

Ambrose was appointed by the general Court of Mass., ‘a commissioner to end small causes’ at Marblehead, June 1, 1677; and Oct. 11, 1682, he was appointed ‘surveyor of damaged goods’ for the same port. He was also the founder of the church at Marblehead and its leading member. He d. in August 1708, at Marblehead.

(6) II EDMOND GALE, of Beverly, m. SARAH, dau. of Capt. William Dixey, a yeoman, late of Beverly.

Edmond first appears as made freeman at Salem, in 1660, said to be of Salisbury ; then, Feb. 18, 1663, purchases land at Marblehead ; he sells his land, June 8, 1669, and is called a "fisherman." In April, 1672, he appears at Beverly, where he is called a "seaman." Here he often buys and sells land until March 10, 1717—18, when "Sarah, of Beverly, widow of Edmond Gale," sells land to Azor Gale. Azor, the same year gives land to James Chapman, in consideration of money furnished by Chapman to Edmond and said Chapman and Mary taking care of Edmond Azor's "honored father" during his last sickness. (25) III. JOHN GALE, of Goshen, N. Y. m. MARY —. He owned mills in Jamaica L. I. and was a miller until 1721, when he sold out for £1500—, and removed the same year to Goshen where he became one of the proprietors of the new town. The records of Jamaica say but little about the Gales. John, however, obtained leave of the town "to set up a grist mill" April 1, 1704 was a soldier in Capt. Peter Schuyler's company in 1692, probably to serve against the French; Feb. 4, 1708-9 was rated 16s 8d on minister's salary and was vestry-man in 1717. In Goshen, John was appointed an elizer in a suit by the court in 1726. His will was dated May 3, 1746 and was proved up Oct. 24, 1750. He named in his will the following children :

He became distinguished as a writer on Agriculture and Medicine. An article on the Small Pox, of his, was published and complimented by a London Medical Magazine. We have no records of his family, but it is said that he had a son who was distinguished as a Divine and D. D.

(83) IV JOSEPH GALE, of Stamford, Ct., m. REBEKAH—. He was in the possession of a Fulling Mill and was very fond of mathematics and is even said to have calculated eclipses and made almanacs. The family traditions are that Joseph came from York-hire, England, and that he had two uncles who came over and settled in Massachusetts some years previous. The traditions are so common, in the different families, that the writer thinks, that they are not entitled to much credit and has therefore placed Joseph as a grand son, of Abel of Long Island, and as Joseph, the son of John, who otherwise could not have been accounted for. In April, 1760, Joseph sold, for £160, his mansion house, shop and mill to his son, William. Since which time we find no further record of him. His children were :

- 162 1 John, b. Oct. 9, 1732 ; m. Sarah Waterbury.

We present an engraved likeness of Dr. Gale with a biographical sketch written by Dr. Brainard of Philadelphia, taken from Wilson's Presbyterian Almanac for 1863

"George W. Gale, son of Josiah and Rachael Gale, of Amenia, N. Y., was born at North East, Dutchess county, New York, December 3, 1789. He graduated at Union College, N. Y., studied Theology at Princeton, N. J., and was licensed to preach the gospel by the Presbytery of Hudson, in Sept. 1816. His first charge was at Adams, Jefferson County, N. Y., where he was ordained by the Presbytery of St. Lawrence, Oct. 29, 1819. Here he enjoyed a great revival of religion, among the converts of which he reckoned Rev. Charles G. Finney and many other eminent men.

His health failing about 1826, he gave up his pastoral charge, hired a farm in Western, Oneida Co., N. Y., and took a class of students whom he instructed, allowing them to pay for their board and tuition by laboring three or four hours a day on his farm. Succeeding in this enterprise, he founded the Oneida Manual Labor Institute, at Whitesboro', N.Y. For a time the Institution had a great popularity and usefulness, educating probably some hundreds of ministers and influential layman, and prompting to the establishment of similar institutions elsewhere over the country. We believe that this prosperity continued so only as Mr. Gale managed its affairs; but after he left, a spirit of ultraism and division arose, so that finally the Institution passed into other hands and lost its distinctive character. Nearly all Manual Labor Schools have failed, showing that the Oneida Institute owed its long success more to the wisdom, energy and benevolence of its founder than to the complex principle on which it was established.

But the great life-work of Mr. Gale was the founding of Knox College, at Galesburg, Illinois, in the year 1835. With herculean labor he first procured among Eastern churches funds for the purchase of a township of land and induced a large number of intelligent and influential families to migrate West, as the nucleus of a Christian community, in the midst of which the new College was to rise. He headed this migration, spent his first season in a log shanty, and shared the general hardships and perils of the undertaking. As our readers know, the enterprise was a complete and glorious success. The city of Galesburg with its ten thousand inhabitants, moral, healthy and prosperous; and Knox College, with an endowment of near a hundred thousand dollars, attest the wisdom, energy and benevolence of Mr. Gale. Visiting Galesburg, si ejus monumentum quaeris—circumspice!

In the College which he had founded, Dr. Gale officiated many years as a Professor, and held the office of Trustee at the time of his death. He was, from intellectual conviction, a sound Presbyterian; and therefore he resisted, with great earnestness and final success, all efforts from any quarter to unsettle the principles on which Knox College was founded. He was also much interested and engaged in protecting the Presbyterian churches of his vicinity from sectarian Proselytism, which has been attempted with plausible motives and on a grand scale.— Hence he urged and advocated those Presbyterian organizations for Home Missions, which should secure the fair and natural development of Christianity under the church forms which he loved and regarded as most wise, orderly and scriptural. For this faithfulness to his ordination vows and his honest convictions, he received from influential sources a great storm of opposition and abuse, which burdened his last days, but which he bore with unflinching fortitude, and as great a measure of meekness as ordinarily pertains to the best of men.

In person, Dr. Gale was rather slightly formed, but his air was graceful, dignified and commanding: His features were regular and his countenance habitually expressed pensive thoughtfulness, firm resolution, and Christian benevolence. His mental constitution fitted him for bold enterprises; and in the early part of his ministry, especially, he moved in the front rank with those who ventured upon strong measures for the advancement of Revivals, Sabbath-keeping and Temperance. He hated slavery always, but never allowed himself to run into a ruinous fanaticism "making havoc of the church."

He was thrice married. His first wife was Harriet, daughter of Charles Selden, of Troy, N. Y.; his second, Esther, daughter of Daniel Williams, of Galesburgh, Illinois; the third, Lucy, daughter of James Merriman, of New Haven, Connecticut. The last survives him. He left six children, all of them, it is believed by his first marriage.

As a husband and a father he was without reproach.— So far as we know, his children not only inherit the honored name, but many of the virtues of their excellent father. His health was always feeble, especially in his latter years. Probably his active mind, acute sensibility, and laborious habit, wrought too powerfully for his physical strength. His trembling hand gave long promission of that sudden paralysis, which closed his life at Galesburgh, September 13, 1862, at the age of seventy-two. At a good age, in the bosom of his family, of a gentle disease, with the hopes of the gospel, surrounded by the rich and enduring monuments of his piety, energy, and benevolence, he passed quietly from earth to heaven. So far as he is concerned such a life needs no eulogy, such a death no regret. But we may remind ourselves of his virtues for our imitation, and we may lament a death which bereaves us of his friendship, his example, and his prayers; and the church of his presence and his influence.

His intellect was strong, clear, logical, acute, penetrating, active, well furnished, and well disciplined. In imagination, style, and pulpit power he was respectable, but not eminent. His judgment of men and things was sound; his hopefulness was large, his faith confiding, his will resolute, his fortitude unshrinking, and his courage unfaltering. A man governed by reason and conscience, rather than by impulse and passion, you knew where to find him. His prejudices, founded in conviction, were strong, and his antipathies liable to be shaded with severity. His friendships were affectionate, trustful and enduring; justifying the adhesion and confidence of his true friends. His piety was a governing principle organized into his whole being, and controlling his plans, his labors, his comforts and his purse. Before those who deserved rebuke he stood up sternly, but before his Maker he lay in the dust. His works praise him, and his memory will long be fresh and fragrant in the church."

The firm have a large capital invested in the business which was established many years since. They manufacture very superior toned instruments, which are celebrated throughout the U. S. and have a very extensive sale. The firm are also distinguished for their benevolence in aiding in the establishment of educational institutions. They donated to Galesville University, in 1864 one of their best $150 pianos. In speaking of this donation the committee on education of the N. W. Wisconsin Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, (having charge of the University) say: "The visitors (of the Conference) also report the donation to the Musical Department, of the University of a large, fine toned and valuable piano forte, manufactured by A. H. Gale & Co. of New York city. This munificence of strangers in a distant city, not only challenges emulation, but evinces a pure benevolence and an ardent love of the science of music, which are superior qualifications for manufacturers of these instruments. The friends of the University will long remember these lovers of good music by this act of kindness." Child:

This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important, and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it. This work was reproduced from the original artifact, and remains as true to the original work as possible. Therefore, you will see the original copyright references, library stamps (as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world), and other notations in the work.

This work is in the public domain in the United States of America, and possibly other nations. Within the United States, you may freely copy and distribute this work, as no entity (individual or corporate) has a copyright on the body of the work.

As a reproduction of a historical artifact, this work may contain missing or blurred pages, poor pictures, errant marks, etc. Scholars believe, and we concur, that this work is important enough to be preserved, reproduced, and made generally available to the public. We appreciate your support of the preservation process, and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant.
